CHARGES ARE MADE AGAINST ANGELES

Rebel General is Declared a Huerta Agent

BY WASHINGTON AGENTS

The Claim is Made That He Caused the Recent Break Between Carranza and Villa—No Orders From Carranza.

Washington, June 27.—Alfredo Breceda, private secretary of Gen. Carranza, the Constitutionalist leader, tonight issued a statement in which he charged that Gen. Felipe Angeles had inspired the recent controversy between Carranza and Villa. He also accused Angeles of being in reality an agent of Gen. Huerta.

Breceda's statement was issued after a conference with Luis Cabrera, one of Carranza's representatives, who is working for participation of the Constitutionalists in an informal peace discussion with the delegates to the Niagara Falls mediation conference. Breceda admits that there is a serious breach in the Constitutionalist ranks which probably cannot be healed unless mediation is successful. In the statement Breceda asserts that he felt called upon to make known the real facts in the contention between Villa and Carranza, "because public opinion in the United States has been greatly misled."

The statement in part follows:

"The troubles between Villa and Carranza have not all the importance that has been supposed. Villa had appeared always in an entirely subordinate character to Carranza. Had it not been for the interference of Felipe Angeles, chief author of the happenings occurring lately, there never would have been differences.

Was a Federal Commander.

"Gen. Angeles was a commander in the Federal army, he was sent on a mission to Europe by Huerta; he stayed there until October, 1913; he then asked to join the ranks of the Constitutionalist army. Angeles was accepted. He was welcomed by Carranza, who appointed him sub-secretary of his war department.

"With the beginning of the military activities against Torreon and yielding to the wishes of Villa, Angeles was sent from Sonora to help Villa in the investment of Torreon.

"Since the arrival of Angeles near Villa change in the attitude of the latter was felt, nearly all the acts of Villa meaning disagreement with Carranza, such as the imprisonment and attempted shooting of Gen. Chao, which were due to the advice of Angeles. On June 12th, Carranza asked Villa to send some reinforcements to Natera who was at the time investing Zacatecas. Villa, acting under the advice of Angeles, refused to send such reenforcements unless he could take charge of the assault, doing all with his own forces. Carranza insisted. Villa refused again and in a fit of anger tendered his resignation as military commander of the Northern division.

"Carranza found himself obliged to accept the resignation, but he convoked the officials who were under orders of Villa that they could choose by themselves their active leader. The officials, influenced by Angeles, refused to appoint a substitute and agreed to support Villa.

"Carranza was acquainted with the real causes of the attitude of Villa and consequently he ordered the immediate discharge of Angeles from the position he held.

"Attempts have been made to patch up the break. Nothing had been obtained until Villa realized that most of the revolutionary leaders had assured their loyalty to Carranza, and that the real purpose of Angeles was to use him as a tool for his ambition to become provisional president of Mexico. Then Angeles purpose became vain.

"In view of this revelation Villa has decidedly agreed to postpone the discussion of his grievances until the revolution has triumphed. Carranza has also considered that the campaign against Huerta must be the chief purpose and that it would be impolitic to spend time in an attempt to subdue Villa."

Foreign Elements Included.

Breceda then charges that the attitude of Villa, fostered on the inside by Angeles, also has been encouraged by certain foreign elements, chiefly two intimate friends of Lazaro De La-Garza, financial agent of Villa.

"One of them is a fellow of many doubtful connections in the United States," the statement continues. "The other is an American who has posed during several months as a confidential agent of the State Department for the revolution, but who has only been a political attache and adviser of Villa in international matters. The latter has led Vila and Angeles to believe they could count on the sympathy and the support of the Washington government.

"Carranza is the first chief of the Constitutionalist army, according to the plan of Guadaloupe. This leadership cannot be taken from him unless by agreement of the majority of the military leaders.

"The number of soldiers composing Villa's troops is about 12,000. Outside of Villa's division, Gen. Angeles has his own body of troops, composed of 1,500 Federal soldiers and officials who have surrendered or deserted to the Constitutionalists and who are bound to increase in number as Angeles advances.

"The forces which are outside of Villa's and Angeles' divisions and who have expressly manifested their adherence to Carranza, number more than 50,000 men."

Breceda and Cabrera after the publication of this statement, said they

TAR HEELS PICNIC AT CABIN JOHN'S BRIDGE

Annual Event of North Carolina Society of Washington.

More Than 100 Participate in the Delightful Occasion, But No Member of the State's Delegation in Congress Present

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., June 27.—A hundred or more North Carolinians, members of the North Carolina Society of Washington, journeyed to Cabin John's Bridge today for the annual basket picnic. Everybody brought a basket filled with good things to eat. A basket of fried chicken which Mrs. S. H. Boyd, of Greensboro, brought out was the center of attraction. Mrs. Boyd had the chicken cooked in Geensboro yesterday, and sent here by parcel post, arriving just in time for the feast.

Several congressmen and the two senators were expected to speak but not a single member of the delegation or either of the senators or any member of their families appeared at the Bridge to mingle with the folks from home. They were busy, perhaps, with matters in Congress; others may have attended the ball game, if there was any to attend.

Dr. J. A. Holmes, president of the society, who is in Mexico for his health, wired Secretary R. O. E. Davis that he regretted his inability to be with the folks from "Down Home."

Woman Suffrage Petitions.

Senator Overman presented petitions to the Senate today advocating woman suffrage signed by Mrs. A. D. Glasgoe, of Charlotte, and Miss Anna Liddell and one from Chapel Hill signed by half dozen who believe the gentler sex should be allowed the privilege of voting.

James P. Arnold and George Miller have been appointed rural letter carriers at North Wilkesboro.

John E. Brown, Representative Doughton's clerk, has gone to Watauga for a visit of several days.

Mrs. Mary Hartsell has been recommended for postmaster at Oakboro by Representative Doughton.

CHARGED WITH KILLING AT LELAND RECENTLY.

Brunswick Sheriff Has Two Negroes Caught at Maxton.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 27.—Sheriff Roberson, of Brunswick county, arrived here at 10 o'clock from Maxton, having in custody two negroes charged with killing another negro at Leland about four weeks ago. Officers of this county have been looking out for the fugitives for several days. They were landed this afternoon by Chief Dunlap, of Maxton.

Sheriff Roberson will remain here till Monday when he will leave with the prisoners for Southport. The prisoners deny the charge, but the sheriff seems positive that he has the right men.

Washington, June 27.—Representative Park, of Georgia, today introduced a bill to make it unlawful for negroes to be designated elected or appointed commissioned or non-commissioned officers of the army or navy.

IS DISCHARGED FROM THE NAVAL ACADEMY

Impersonated Another Man in an Examination.

M. P. Harris, of Mississippi, Taken to the Border of Reservation and Told to Go—Other Boy Left School.

Annapolis, Md., June 27.—M. P. Harris, of Mississippi, a young enlisted man in the navy, tonight was escorted to the boundaries of the government reservation at Annapolis and there dishonorably discharged from the service because he had impersonated another man in an examination for admission to the Naval Academy as a midshipman.

Harris won a designation from United States Senator Williams to take the entrance tests under a new plan of Secretary of the Navy Daniels for the benefit of enlisted men. He passed the tests and later took the place of T. B. Lougre, also of Mississippi, and passed the first examination for him in Virginia. When Lougre appeared at the Naval Academy to take the physical test the deception was discovered because his handwriting did not agree with that in the first examination papers.

Although kept in ignorance of the investigation and told that he was suffering from a slight physical defect, Longre left Annapolis when publicity was given to the affair and did not return.

The Naval Academy authorities recommended a court martial for Harris but the ruling of the Secretary of the Navy was for dishonorable discharge. Harris had been a prisoner aboard the prison ship Reina Mercedes since the discovery of his guilt.

Longre's case has been referred to the Civil Service Commission at Washington.

LADY SUFFRAGISTS VISIT CONGRESS

Mrs. Marshall Holds Check on Vice-President.

SO HE TOLD THE WOMEN

Vice President Informed Visitors That "I've Got to Remember My Wife and Don't Want to Get Separated From Her."

Washington, June 27.—Woman suffragists representing their sisters in 38 States descended on the Capitol again today seeking support from congressmen of all political faiths.

Speaker Clark told them that woman suffrage "was as inevitable as the rising of tomorrow's sun." Vice President Marshall, pressed to make a more definite stand on the question, naively intimated that his wife would not let him; and Secretary Bryan, waylaid by an enthusiastic suffragist in a capitol corridor, took refuge in an elevator.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman's Suffrage Association, and Jane Addams, of Chicago, and Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, of Kentucky, vice pesidents, pleaded their cause to both Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark. Mrs. Breckenridge, a granddaughter of Henry Clay, said she hoped the Vice President would help the woman suffrage cause. The Vice President interrupted: "I've got to remember my wife and I don't want to get separated from her." This remark was interpreted by the suffragists to mean that Mrs. Marshall opposes the movement.

Mrs. Antoinette Funk, of Chicago, said the delegation wanted their petitions sent to the Senators by messenger.

"I will do that for you," said the Vice Pesident, and calling pages ,he ordered the petitions distributed.

Mrs. Catt to London.

New York, June 27.—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance sailed for London today to attend a board meeting of the alliance, which will be held in London this month.

Several interesting features will come up at this board meeting. Mrs. Catt said. Among them will be a session of women in the United States where they have won the franchise working for the enfranchisement of women of the world.

Bombard King and Queen.

London, June 27.—Militant suffragists circumvented the police today and bombarded King George and Queen Mary with leaflets at the entrance to Hyde Park. A bundle of the papers struck the king's hat and knocked it sideways while the queen's parasol caught another shower of pamphlets.

Two women were seized by the police and carried away struggling violently,

The king and queen treated the incident with good humored indifference, which they always exhibit, when the objects of suffragists' demonstrations. The king smilingly tossed one of the bundles of papers into the roadway and their drive continued.

The crowd showed a different spirit. Spectators rushed for the women and they would have been badly mauled had not the police rallied around them. The two women arrested were held more for their own protection than because of their offense. They were charged with insulting behavior, but were released on their own recognizance.

Plead for Amendment.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 27.—Petitions requesting submission to Missouri voters next November of a constitutional amendment granting women the ballot was filed with the Secretary of State today.

The petitions were signed by more than 33,000 persons.

SMALL FIRE CAUSES AN EXCITEMENT IN SALEM

General Alarm Turned in as Fire is Discovered.

Yesterday Was Pay Day for Hundreds Whose Homes as Well as Positions Were Destroyed by Thursday's Conflagration.

Salem, Mass., June 27.—The city became excited for a time tonight when a general alarm was sounded for a fire that destroyed two houses and badly damaged a third near the burned district. A brisk wind, blowing over the glowing embers of Thursday's conflagration carried the sparks high and far over the undamaged portion of the residential quarters.

Prompt action of the fire department and the militia made it certain within an hour after the fire was discovered that there would be no further spread.

The State police today began with the city officials an investigation of a number of smaller fires during Thursday's conflagration, and found they were of incendiary origin. An effort was made to determine the cause of

GOVERNMENT HAS PLENTY OF MONEY

There Will be No Deficit in Finances

DECLARES UNDERWOOD

Fortified With Official Figures House Democratic Leader Tells Congress Condition of Nation's Pocket Book.

Washington, June 27.—Fortified with official figures from the Treasury Department, Democratic Leader Underwood today told the House there would be no deficit in government finances and that any prediction of one was a dream, based on wishes springing from political antagonism.

In an analysis of the government's financial situation, Mr. Underwood announced that the total receipts of the government for the fiscal year ending next Tuesday would aggregate $733,000,000, leaving a surplus of $30,000,000, and that with only a half year's operation of the income tax. That did not include Panama expenditures, estimated at $35,000,000. Next year, he declared, Panama expenditures virtually would pass away and canal receipts would pay running expenses.

Mr. Underwood's speech was in support of the Senate amendment to the legislation appropriation bill to increase the treasury fund for collecting the income tax from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, which the House finally agreed to. Mr. Underwood explained the increase was for collecting the income tax from persons and corporations trying to evade it.

"For next year," he predicted, "we can be assured of collecting more than $100,000,000 from the income tax, even if no more proportionately is collected than was collected this year and more super-tax will be collected."

Mr. Underwood said customs receipts were producing in the current year $22,000,000 more than the administration had expected.

"There will be no falling off in the income tax receipts next year," he said. "A large portion of the income accrues and is payable in January and February, but the income tax became operative as to the normal tax in March, and, as to the super-tax or additional tax not until the bill became a law in October. Probably one-half of the dividends and coupon interests on bonds are payable on January and February of each year and they are not included in this year's returns of the income tax. So it is fair to say that only one-half of the year has been available in which to collect the income tax.

"I take the corporation tax this year will show an increase of about $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 over the last year of the Payne bill," continued Mr. Underwood.

Representative Payne, of New York, author of the last Republican tariff law, contended that the Republicans should have been credited with some of the receipts of the current year, as the reduction in the tariff rates under the Underwood bill did not cover the entire fiscal year.

MERCHANTS OF BUTTE PREPARE FOR TROUBLE

Gunmen Went to Neighboring Town With Avowed Purpose of Killing Moyer But Failed in Their Purpose—Not There.

Butte, Mont., June 27.—Merchants of Butte placed armed men in their stores tonight to guard against unforseen contingencies. Since the riots caused by factional fights in the local union of the Western Federation of Miners, the situation has been tense, but the city outwardly was quiet today.

The new independent union of miners formed in opposition to the federation, reported it has signed 2,229 members out of the 9,000 metal miners here. The first meeting of the new organization will be held tomorrow night. The faction loyal to the federation announced it would be ready by Monday to resume work of re-organizing the Butte local.

The inquest into the death of Ernest J. Noy, killed in the rioting Tuesday night, was continued today until July 6. Many witnesses testified reluctantly. All who entered the coroner's office were searched for weapons. On good authority it was said seven gun men of Butte went to Anaconda last night with the avowed intention of killing President Moyer, of the federation, who did not go to Anaconda from Helena as he had announced he would.

Martinsburg, W. Va., June 27.—Receivers were appointed today for the Crawford Woolen Mills Company, of Martinsburg. Liabilities are placed at $160,000 and assets at about the same amount. The mill employs 300 persons.

HOW DO SECRETS REACH THE PRESS?

To Be Made Subject of Senate Investigation

IF RESOLUTION PASSES

Transactions of the Foreign Relations Committee Behind Closed Doors Too Freely Discussed by Newspapers, is Claim.

Washington, June 27.—Stirred to action by the apparent freedom with which the doings of the Foreign Relations committee in consideration of the Nicaraguan and Colombian treaties have been published from day to day, several Senators today agreed on a resolution asking for authority to subpoena Senators and Washington correspondents to an inquiry to determine how the proceedings of the committee—which are supposed to be especially secret—get out.

Chairman Stone introduced the resolution and it was referred to a standing committee which desides on the expense involved in such investigation. It is expected that the Senate will pass it. With the resolution, Chairman Stone read into the Congressional Record this statement:

"All newspaper reports of what has occurred in the committee on Foreign Relations in its proceedings regarding the Nicaraguan and Colombian treaties are unauthorized and inaccurate, and are moreover unworthy of belief, because whoever gave out the alleged information betrayed the confidence of the committee and government and deliberately violated his word of honor."

Brand of Dishonesty.

"No man upon that committee," declared the Senator to his colleagues, "can give out the confidential business of the committee except he has upon him the brand of absolute dishonesty and betrayal."

He added that he regarded the disclosures of what had taken place behind closed doors "a disgraceful performance."

The committee probably will endeavor to cross examine its own members and may decide to go into a broad inquiry that will reach out through the Senate.

Evidence that all Senators do not entirely approve the idea that the committee's proceedings shall be secret, was given by Senator Norris, who is not a member of the Foreign Relations committee. He offered a resolution that all Senators be furnished with copies of the daily testimony before the committee on the treaties.

One result of today's developments was to strengthen the determination of several Senators opposed to the treaties to make an effort to have them considered by the Senate in open session.

EDWIN D. HUSSEY DEAD.

Son of Dr. Hussey, of Warsaw, Passes in Savannah.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Warsaw, N. C., June 27.—A message was received here this morning announcing the death of Edwin D. Hussey, which occurred in a local hospital in Savannah, Ga., last night at 7:15.

He had been ill only a few days and his death was unexpected. Edwin was the youngest son of the late Dr. L. Hussey, of this place, and is survived by his mother and several sister and brothers. He held a prominent position in Savannah with one of the largest firms of that city and was beloved by a host of friends, who will mourn his untimely death.

His remains will arrive here in the morning and the funeral services will be held at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

NEW ORLEANS REPORTS BUBONIC PLAGUE CASE

Foreigner Found Sick in Cheap Boarding House.

New Orleans, June 27.—Health officers announced tonight that a case of Bubonic Plague had been discovered in New Orleans. Charles Lundere, a Swede, 45 years old, who has been in the city 11 days, is the victim.

Where Lundene came from has not been learned. He was taken ill several days ago in a cheap lodging house, and later removed to a hospital where physicians pronounced him suffering from the plague. The patient has been isolated and precautions instituted to prevent the spread of the disease. The lodging house where Lundene lived has been quarantined.

Health officers of Southern States were notified by telegraph tonight of the discovery of the case.

TRAVIS OPPOSED TO REVENUE AMENDMENT

State Committee Had No Quorum to Take Action.

On Resolution for Endorsement of Constitutional Amendments, Pressed by Williams of Buncombe After 1 A. M.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 27.—The State Democratic executive committee in session last night did not finally adjourn until about 2 o'clock this morning and then the adjournment followed a roll call ballot that showed only 26 present and quite a number of those only by proxy with an issue before the committee one that had not been expected. This was a resolution pressed by Hon. R. R. Williams, of Buncombe, and Hon. A. M. Scales, of Guilford, designed to impress the great need for North Carolina voters to ratify the pending constitutional amendments, most particularly that one as to a reform of the taxing system of the State.

Sharp opposition developed and the question of a quorum was raised when the vote was taken. Mr. Williams declared that the State cannot raise sufficient revenue by the present system and Mr. Scales regretted that the State convention "did not have the courage to take a decided stand for the constitutional amendments."

The most notable opposition to the taxation amendment came from Corporation Commissioner Travis, who insisted that the State committee has no right to act for the convention in this matter. Furthermore, he declared himself opposed to the taxation amendment, believing that to ratify it would be a great blunder. Furthermore he ventured to assert that there were not five men on the committee meeting who really knew what the pending constitutional amendments are.

While these expressions of views were being made great numbers of the members of the committee were leaving to catch their trains or get a whif of fresh air and the no quorum condition developed.

Pasteur Never Fails.

Commenting today on the treatment he is giving the seven children from the Odd Fellows Orphanage at Goldsboro for "mad cat" bite, Director Shore, of the State laboratory of hygiene, said that the treatments are taking effect nicely and, in fact, that in all the six years work of the laboratory in administering the Pasteur treatment there had been but one unsuccessful treatment and that was due to too long delay in taking it. Something like 1,150 persons have been treated since the department was established.

Referring to the typhoid vaccine work, Mr. Shore said that the laboratory had distributed sufficient of this vaccine to inoculate 10,000 persons.

NEGRO HIGHWAYMEN KILL TWO WHITE MEN

And Seriously Wound Another in Mississippi.

Made Successful Getaway With Two Thousand Dollars—Posse in Pursuit of Murderers—Special Trains to Scene.

Laurel, Miss, June 27.—Three negro highwaymen shot and killed two employes of the Gilchrist Fordney Lumber Company, seriously wounded a third and escaped with the company's weekly payroll, amounting to $2,200. Those killed were J. V. Simmons and Reese Fitzpatrick, clerks in the local office of the lumber company. Wyatt Robinson, another clerk, was badly wounded.

The hold-up occurred just outside of Stevens station, where the clerks boarded a motor car for the company's logging camp, six miles away. They had gone but a short distance when they came upon an obstruction which had been placed on the track by the highwaymen. When they alighted from the car to remove it, the negroes opened fire upon them, killing Fitzpatrick instantly. Simmons, fatally wounded, died a short while afterwards.

Although badly wounded, Robinson made his way back to Stevens and gave the alarm. A special train was sent from here with a posse to join in the hunt for the robbers.

DATE IS EXTENDED.

For Free Food Shipment to Vera Cruz by War Department.

Washington, June 27.—On recommendation of Brig. Gen. Funston, the War Department has extended time of free entry of foodstuffs into Vera Cruz. Foodstuffs shipped to Vera Cruz by vessels clearing any port on or before midnight July 10th, will be admitted free of duty. The government takes no responsibility in regard to such shipments.

JOHNSON IS VICTOR OVER FRANK MORAN

Pittsburgher Game and Took Heavy Punishment

TWENTY FULL ROUNDS

Paris, June 27.—Jack Johnson still holds the heavyweight championship of the world.

In a hard-fought battle at the Velodrome d'Hiver here tonight, the negro easily defeated Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, on points, in a 20-round contest. Moran was game and stubborn. He did most of the leading and made many friends.

Terrific uppercuts on which Johnson had relied in many previous battles again were brought into play on his young adversary, who was unable effectively to block them. They repeatedly were sent to Moran's jaw when he least expected them and several times with such force that the Pittsburgher was sent wabbling, but there was not a single knock down or anything that looked like a finishing blow. At the close, Moran's face was bleeding from cuts on the nose and under the left eye. Johnson showed no marks.

Moran Weakened.

Towards the middle of the contest it appeared that Moran would not go the 20 rounds, but he showed courage and kept driving. Although he landed a number of times on the negro his blows lacked force and were comparatively ineffective. Now and then he tried to land hard, but only swung wildly through space.

Moran took his punishment well, and part of the time the negro toyed with him when he say he could do so without danger.

Towards the end Johnson had the Pittsburgher at his mercy. Moran apparently feared he would be finished and clung to Johnson's body for support, at the same time trying to land, but without success. His manner of fighting and holding in the last of the contest caused unfavorable comment. The tactics of Johnson on several occasions brought a caution from the referee as well as jeers from the crowd.

Many French spectators, who seemingly did not understand the fine points of the boxing, voiced their objection to in-fighting, but cheered any resounding harmless whacks.

The great amphitheatre presented a wonderful sight, for although there were some empty seats, the tiers were crowded with representatives of every element. The singular spectacle was presented when several hundred women in handsome gowns applauded the two pugilists, as they struggled up and down the ring, feinting and dodging and hammering each other. Among the women were those who bore great names in French society.

Johnson's white wife occupied a prominent place wearing as many diamonds as most of the great ladies. She cried out shrilly from time to time: "Hit him Daddy;" "Come along Pop;" Now, then Jack, let him have another."

Gloved hands joined in the applause that rang through the building as the two gladiators struggled for supremacy.

Notables at Ring Side.

Spencer Eddy, former American minister to Argentina, sat near the ringside. Three feet behind him sat the Duke of Wistminster while not far away were the Earl of Sefton and other notables.

Here and there were dark faces, some of them negroes from Senegal, Dahomey and West Indies. Two negro members of the Chamber of Deputies from Guadaloupe showed intense interest in the battle.

It was an amazingly international crowd. Several hundred Americans were in the best seats.

After the fight Johnson pointed out that no champion of his age ever before defended the title and won. (He is 36 years old.) He appeared little the worse for the battle.

"They thought I could not last 20 rounds," he said. "Well, didn't I? I am satisfied. I have done nothing for two years except ride fast. In another six weeks, I will be ready to box anybody."

"Moran a Good Boy."

"Moran has a real hard punch with either hand. I know, because I have been there. If they always landed, there is not anybody who could stand up against him. He is a good boy, all right, and I enjoyed the fight. Carpeniter was a fine referee."

It was the first time a French champion had refereed a big match and George Carpentier expressed great pleasure at the experience. H thought it one of the best fights he had ever seen.

Asked if he would like to take on Johnson, Carpentier said:

Moran in his dressing room, after the fight, said:

"At the worst it should have been a draw. I was the aggressor through out the whole 20 rounds and I was not hurt. The cut over my eye is only an old one re-opened. It was received in training. I believe I had the best of nearly every round. The blow that really hurt was one on my nose and for this Johnson was warned. That stopped my breathing and sent the blood trickling down my throat. That was the only real hurt

STAGS CHAMPIONS OF FIRST HALF SEASON.

Won Deciding Game Yesterday—Immanuels Downed Wrightsboro.

Two of the snappiest games of the season were pulled off in the Independent League yesterday, the Immanuels winning the opening contest from Wrightsboro, and the Stags wresting the second contest, and the championship of the first series.

The Immanuels won the opening in the eighth inning by a bunching of hits and lucky base running. The feature of the game was the pitching of Matthews, who struck out 16 of the country lads, and the fast fielding of the Wrightsboro team. Batteries: Wrightsboro, Jones and Stickland; Immanuels, Matthews and Todd.

The Stags went into the second game with the determination to come out at the top, as yesterday's game was the ending of the first series of the season. The hitting of Wagner and the superb box work of Bornemann and Whitehead featured the game.

PLAY A TIE.

Evergreen and Boardman Play Nine-Innings, 4 to 4.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Chadbourn, N. C., June 27.—Boardman and Evergreen tied four and four on first half of ninth inning, today. The features of the game were the pitching of Lumbston and fast playing of Simmons for Boardman. The pitching and catching of Nye and Spivey was good work and was supported well by the Evergreen boys. Thompson's two base hit got things on the stir and Charlie Covington's bunts kept the Boardman boys on a whirl.

Game in East Wilmington.

East Wilmington won from a team from the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon on the grounds of the first-named; score 16 to 6. The batteries were Gerdes, Cowell and Burgess for Y. M. C. A.; Pearsall and Buck for East Wilmington. The feature of the game was the pitching of Pearsall, the heavy hitting of both teams and a home run by Gerdes. The game was witnessed by 200 enthusiastic spectators.

Acme Defeats East Wilmington.

Acme, N. C., June 27.—In a fast game of baseball this afternoon, Acme defeated the East Wilmington team by a score of 12 to 8. The features of the game were the three base hits of Martinet and Wooten and the pitching of O'Shields for the locals, and the fielding of Childs for the visitors. The batteries for the visitors were Adams and Holmes and Suber and Blalock; for the locals, O'Shields and Becker.

Boys' Brigade	7	3	4	.428
Giants	7	2	5	.285

Two fine games of the national pastime were pulled off at Sunset Park yesterday afternoon in the regular weekly games of the City League. The Y. M. C. A. took the opening game from the Giants four to six, while the Brigade and W. L. I. were unable to break the tie and the game was called in the tenth with the score standing seven to seven.

The features of the game were the batting of Bethea and Taylor and the hitting of Palmgren and Buck. Holt and Green were the opposing twirlers and both pitched high-grade ball.

The second game was exciting from start to finish, first one side and then the other in the lead throughout, with plenty of good hitting mixed in. The stick wok of Orrell and Morton was particularly brilliant.

First Game.

First inning—Giants: Shepard singled. Gerdes sacrificed, and Shepard scored on Davis' grounder to second. Bethea was out third to first. Cashwell and Hines walked. Palmgren expired on first. One run. One hit.

Second inning—Giants: Holt flied to left. Shaw flied to short. Shepard was safe on error of second. Gerdes lived on error of same man. Shepard scored on a passed ball. Davis out on first. One run. No hits.

Second inning—Y. M. C. A.: Smith was safe on error of third. Orrell sacrificed. Buck singled, scoring Walsack and Green. Taylor out on first. Fillyaw struck out. Three runs. Three hits.

Fourth inning—Giants: Palmgren walks. Stole second and went to third when Holt flied to left, scoring on Shaw's out. Shepard out on first. One run. No hits.

Fourth inning—Y. M. C. A.: Walsack out short to first. Green was safe on error first. Buck singled. Taylor followed suit, Green scoring. Fillyaw singled scoring Buck and Taylor. Lewis flied out, Houston walked, and Smith hit to short who caught Fillyaw at plate. Three runs. Three hits.

Sixth inning—Giants: Hines out to first unassisted. Palmgren hit to left for three bases and scored on Holt's single. Shaw struck out. Shepard flied to short. One run. Two hits.

Eighth inning—Giants: Hines flied to second. Palmgren singled and stole second. Holt struck out. Shaw singled, scoring Palmgren. Shepard flied to short. One run. Two hits.

Second Game

First inning—Boys' Brigade: Burnett, R., safe on error of third. Shepard struck out. Burnett, C., flied to second. Wilson singled scoring Burnett. Huhn flied to second. One hit One run.

Second inning—Boys' Brigade: Bergen flied to short. Morton singled. Litgen singled. Register was safe on error second. Burnett, R., doubled scoring Morton and Litgen. Shepard struck out. Two runs. Three hits.

Fourth inning—W. L. I.: Shaw was safe on error short Boswell walked. Duls singled. Orrell singled scoring Shaw. Smith was safe on fielder's choice, Duls scoring on a wild pitch. Westbrook expired on first. One run. No hits.

Fifth inning—W. L. I.: Bell singled. Hawkes walked and both advanced on a passed ball. Bell scored when Hines hit to second and all were safe on throw home. Shaw walked. Boswell was safe on fielder's choice, Hines scoring. Duls was safe on fielder's choice, Shaw scoring. Orrell was out on first. Four runs. One hit.

Sixth inning—Boys' Brigade: Morton walked. Litgen sacrificed him to second. Register was hit by pitcher. Burnett met a like fate, filling the cushions. Shepard struck out. Burnett, C., doubled to center scoring Register and Morton, Burnett being caught at the plate. Three runs. One hit.

Eighth inning—Boys' Brigade: Morton doubled. Branch struck out. Register singled scoring Morton. Burnett, R., flied to center. Shepard flied to short. One run. Two hits.

Roller in the Sound.

The big road roller used by the county in the road work rolled down the embankment leading from the station at Wrightsville to Summer Rest Friday, and turned wheels upward in the mud at Wrightsville Sound. The machine was driven by Mr. William Sellars and the soft earth at the side of the embankment, giving way under the weight of the roller, caused it to topple over sideways. Fortunately no one was hurt. Mr. R. A. Burnett, the county superintendent of roads, is directing the reclamation of the runaway roller.

FEW STATE BANKS IN NEW RESERVE SYSTEM

State Laws Are Responsible for Their Absence.

Two States Have Passed Enabling Acts Since the Passage of Federal Reserve Act by Congress—Others Promise.

Washington, June 27.—Fifty State banks and trust companies, all told, have qualified for membership in Federal reserve banks as against 7,500 national banks.

This small number of State institutions in the new Federal banking plan is due chiefly to State laws forbidding State banks to acquire stocks in other corporations. There are only 20 States in which the Treasury Department officials are absolutely certain it is possible for State banking institutions to become members of the new Federal reserve banks without some modification of the laws. These States include Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and South Carolina.

Two of these States, Kentucky and South Carolina, have passed enabling acts since the passage of the Federal reserve act and in the others without exception officials have given assurance steps would be taken to make change in State laws which will enable State banks to join the Federal reserve banks if they so desire. However, in many States the Legislatures do not convene until 1915.

The Reserve Bank Organization committee early next week will mail to the electors of all member banks a complete list of the nominees for directors in their various districts. Each elector will be allowed 15 days after the receipt of this list before he casts his ballot for directors. The member banks elect six directors, three of class A and three of class B. The Federal Reserve Board will name three directors for each of the Federal reserve banks.

Members of the committee were surprised at the comparatively small number of nominations submitted for directors. The entire number was only 768 with more than 7,000 banks voting.

TWO CLAIM VICTORY IN CRAVEN PRIMARY.

Whitford and Richardson About Even for House.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Newbern, N. C., June 27.—Incomplete returns from the primary held in Craven county today to select a representative to the State legislature show that G. V. Richardson, Dover, and G. A. Whitford, of Askin, stand about equal. Friends of both gentlemen are claiming the victory.

In Newbern about 650 votes were cast and Whitford received a majority of about 80 votes. In the rural districts, especially at and around Dover, Richardson polled a heavy vote.

While both are claiming victory, the exact vote will not be known until the canvassing board meets next week.

DOCTORS TO EDUCATE THE GENERAL PUBLIC

Medical Association to Spend Large Sums.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 27.—"To educate the public regarding medical matters in order to prolong life, the whole administrative power of the American Medical Association will be brought to bear during the coming year." Dr. Victor C. Vaughan, the newly-elected president of the association, made this statement at the close of the congress.

Dr. Vaughan said the work of the American Medical Association had grown from a mere gathering of physicians to discuss technical points into an organization of 4,500 practitioners devoted to the service of mankind.

"During the coming year," said Dr. Vaughan, "the policy of the administrative branch of the association will be a definite one—we shall spend our time and money in education. Conditions have changed. Once it was simply a matter of a physician's duty to his patient. The field has broadened. The physician must now go to the public."

Dr. Vaughan said the association would expend large sums of money in preparing medical matter for the newspapers.

THEATRICAL

For the inauguration of a week that promises to be one of the biggest in the popular photoplay house's history, the Bijou will offer for their headliner tomorrow afternoon a mammoth two-reel 101 Bison feature drama, "The Isle of Abandoned Hope." This is a mammoth production featuring William Clifford, Sherman Bainbridge and a big galaxy of other stars of the screen, and will be received with applause by Wilmington amusement lovers. It is one of those tremendous features being produced for the Universal by Henry McRae and his company of special players now stationed in the Hawaiian Islands, and gives an interesting insight into this freaky country. It is a startling story of shipwreck, showing stirring adventures at the foot of an active volcano and coming to a dramatic climax when a party of castaways escapes from a modern Garden of Eden by following the dark path of a subterranean river. It's a thriller, and will make a hit, as it has in the few places that have seen it ahead of Wilmington.

"Bowery Boys," is a mammoth Keystone comedy that comes next on today's bill, and will be found one of the newest, biggest and best of this series of high class comedies.

Look up the large ad elsewhere in today's paper for a complete list of the big features in store for Bijougoers this week. It's a list that any show house could well be proud of, and will furnish a big week's entertainment.

MINER JIM SCOTT

Red McGhee says:

When sizin' up the hurling class in Big Ban's league, you'd best not pass too swiftly over Scott. Just hesitate an' watch his slants an' give the miner lad a chance to show you what he's got. You rave 'bout Johnson, Smoky Joe, both touted for their wife throw with reps for speed to burn. Just let 'em loosen up their whip an' when they've let a couple rip give Miner Jim his turn.

He'll run these fast boys' shoots a race an' often make their shoots take place or leave the match dead heat. The miner's got some bendees, too, that keep the hits from comin' through. He's mighty hard to best. Few hits, few passes, great control—small chance that he'll get in the hole or fly an S. O. S. An' lamp his strikeout record, bo! His av'rage, five a game, ain't slow by any geezer's guess.

Insurance Department After Elkmont Park Co.

Offering Worthless "Free" Lots to Patrons of Movies and Charging Enormous Profits for Deeds, It is Alleged.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 27.—The State Department of Insurance is after the Elkmont Park Co., of Knoxville, Tenn., for the violation of the North Carolina "Blue Sky law" and the agent of the company who has been operating here, J. G. Bear, Jr., has left the city and probably the State, according to a statement by Commissioner Young, this morning.

This is the company that has been offering free lots to patrons of moving picture shows lately and then charging the patrons who get the lots $7.50 for issuing the papers, this being shown to be an enormous profit on the land actually deeded, the company having paid $4.50 per acre and divided this into 25-foot lots so that the $7.50 per lot for executing the deed to the "gift" represents over 800 per cent profit. Furthermore, the property is represented by those who have investigated to be mountainous and really worthless. Attorney General Bickett was consulted by Insurance Commissioner Young and the determination to force the concern from the State was the result. The reports show the company to be registered with W. E. Crumley as general manager and F. Y. Carter as principal owner.

A charter is issued for Stockard-Wimbish, Inc., of Greensboro, capital $25,000 authorized and $400 subscribed for a general mercantile business by R. S. Wimbish, A. W. Cooke and L. F. Stockard.

Governor Craig issued a commission today to Major J. J. Bernard, of Raleigh, as a member of the State Board of Accountancy for examining and licensing public accountants. His term is for three years. He succeeds David Stern, of Greensboro, whose term of office expires.

Lon Wells Pardoned.

A pardon is issued for Lon Wells, of Swain county, serving a two years' sentence in the penitentiary for larceny. The pardon is on account of the advanced age of the prisoner and the fact as represented to the Governor that he was led into the commission of the crime by the evil influence of his wife. He is in very poor health and almost blind. He has served almost a year of the sentence.

FAYETTEVILLE NEWS NOTES

Durham Men Lease Tobacco Warehouse—Board of Health Active —Races for Fourth.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., June 27.—Matters have assumed very definite shape in the tobacco business in Fayetteville, which is a new venture, at least of recent years. About twenty-five years ago, the growth of the weed and its sale on this market were tried for a couple of seasons, but the business proved unprofitable, because of inexperience of the farmers both in growing and curing. Now things are being done in a more business-like manner. A farm demonstrator, Mr. J. D. Fletcher, of Durham county, who is very practical and experienced, has been employed and is doing a good work. He has instructed the farmers in planting, cultivating and the construction of barns, and they are succeeding well so far.

Messrs. Webster, Umstead and Spencer, of Durham, have leased a warehouse here, on which they will begin repairs and improvements July 1. It is estimated that 1,500,000 pounds of tobacco will be sold on this market this season. Large buyers have signified their intention of sending men here when the season opens.

The International Sunday School Convention, colored, convened here this week. It was very largely attended by negroes from this and other States, and some of the most prominent ministers and educators of the race took part in the proceedings.

Board of Health Active.

The Cumberland County Board of Health seems to be determined that the sanitary conditions of Fayetteville shall not be talked of over the State, as have been those of Elizabeth City. The board, which is composed of the chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, the mayor of Fayetteville, the county superintendent of public instruction and two physicians met this week and reviewed sanitary conditions in the city, especially going into the subject of surface closets and slaughter houses. A resolution was adopted to the effect that the city health authorities be granted permission to establish a slaughter house outside the city limits, with the proviso that same be always kept in a sanitary condition.

General Superintendent of Transportation W. H. Newell and other officials of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad this week went over the A. & Y. branch of the A. C. L. between Fayetteville and Sanford, with a view to making improvements on that end of the line. It is said that new bridges, culverts, track and sidings will be put in.

Horse Racing July Fourth.

There will be some good horse racing in Fayetteville on July Fourth, under the auspices of the Cape Fear Fair, on the fair ground half-mile race track which is considered by turfmen one of the best and fastest in the South. Six horses, three of them from Elizabeth City, N. C., have been in training here for some time, and some new local speed records have been made. Up to this time there are about fifteen entries, most of the horses coming from Eastern North Carolina. The aggregate of purses offered is $600, for three races, as follows: 2:30 trot, $200; 2:25 pace, $200; free-for-all trot or pace, $200.

ACTIVITIES IN WARSAW AND DUPLIN COUNTY.

To Build Two Tobacco "Prize Houses" —Building Up Farm Lands.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Warsaw, N. C., June 27.—A committee appointed by the Board of Trade of this town has been soliciting subscriptions among the business men here for the purpose of raising funds with which to build two "prize houses" for the purpose of caring for the tobacco crops. This matter has met with favor among the people who have been asked to take stock in the project, and several hundred dollars have been subscribed. It is the intention of these people to make this a stock company, and to have these houses ready to care for the crops this season. It now seems that this will be done, although the size and capacity of the buildings could not be learned at this time, it is known that these will necessarily have to be of a fairly large size in order to care for the crops that are grown annually.

The real estate dealers here are making strenuous efforts to build up the surrounding farming lands, and it would seem that they are meeting with success. They are corresponding with people throughout the entire North and West, and they have also had correspondence from parties in England, and the prospects are that before another year has passed that there will be a large number of these people moving into this section. It has been figured that there are as many as 50,000 uncultivated acres of land within a radius of a few miles of here that is for sale by the different owners, on account of the lack of help to cultivate these lands, and it is these lands that the dealers are trying to dispose of to a good class of citizens.

It has also been learned, after talking to a number of leading business men who have traveled over the county recently, that the other sections of the county are also making rapid strides in modern ways. The work on the railroad, which is being built from Pink Hill to Chinquapin, via Beulaville, and other towns in the eastern section of the county, is rapidly progressing, the road from here to Kenansville will soon be completed, and it is thought that a regular schedule will be inaugurated by the first of August. A good deal of thinking and talking is also being done in regard to the bond election which is to be held in Beulaville, Hallsville, Limestone and Wolfscrape townships on the 17th of next month. Each of these roads will open up sections that have never before had the advantage of railroads, and it is also rumored that these roads may sooner or later play important parts in the matter of "from coal fields to the coast" after the opening of the Panama Canal.

The farmers throughout the county are making steps in the most modern methods of farming, and are continually building, and improving their farms. They are also learning to use the most modern ways of cultivating their lands. They are using the improved machinery, and in fact, the past few years have seen vast improvements in this way.

THE "LID" GOES ON IN NEWBERN TODAY.

No Cold Drinks, Cigars, Ice Cream, Etc., to be Sold.

Newbern, N. C., June 27.—Tomorrow the "lid" goes on in Newbern. No cold drinks, cigars, cigarettes, ice cream, or in fact, any article except food and drugs, ice and milk will be sold in this city on Sunday. For weeks this matter has been pending and two weeks ago the board of aldermen by a vote of five to four decided to clamp down the lid on the promiscuous sale of drinks, cigars, etc., on the Sabbath day. The matter of saying just what could be disposed of was left up to the mayor, but so far he has made no statement of what articles might be termed as "necessities."

However, it is supposed that the drug store and cafe men will be allowed to use their own discretion as to what comes under this head. There is considerable speculation as to whether the various garages will be allowed to dispose of gasoline. Many are of the opinion that this does not come under the heading of "necessities" and will not be allowed to be disposed of. Newbern, Morehead City and Beaufort are now the only three towns in Eastern North Carolina having ordinances of this variety.

POSTOFFICE PRIMARY A GRATIFYING SUCCESS.

B. A. Summerlin Selected by Patrons of Mount Olive Office.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Mount Olive, N. C., June 27.—Ben A. Summerlin was the successful contestant in the primary held here today for the selection of a postmaster, the votes cast for various candidates being as follows:

B. A. Summerlin, 156; H. R. Southerland, 58; W. H. Kornegay, 37; F. F. Manly, 25; Jas. J. Hatch, 21.

The contest was hard fought but the best of humor prevailed and satisfaction over the result seems general. Only Democrats were allowed to participate and the voting was heavy.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE MORNING STAR, the oldest daily newspaper in North Carolina, is published daily at $6 per year; $3 for six months; $1.50 for three months; 50 cents for one month, by mail.

THE SUNDAY STAR, by mail, one year, $1; six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES may be had on application, and advertisers may feel assured that through the columns of this paper they may reach all Wilmington, Eastern Carolina and contiguous territory in South Carolina.

Obituary sketches, cards of thanks, communications espousing the cause of a private enterprise or a political candidate and like matter will be charged at the rate of 10 cents per line, to persons carrying a regular account, or, if paid cash in advance a half rate will be allowed. Announcements of fairs, festivals, balls, hops, picnics, excursions, society meetings, political meetings, etc., will be charged under the same conditions, except so much thereof as may be of news value to the readers of the paper, in the discretion of the editors.

TELEPHONES: Business Office, No. 51. Editorial and Local rooms, No. 61. Call either, if the other doesn't answer.

COMMUNICATIONS, unless they contain important news, or discuss briefly and properly subjects of real interest are not wanted; and, if acceptable in every other way, they will invariably be rejected unless the real name of the author accompanies the same, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

ALL DRAFTS, checks, express money orders and postal money orders for the paper should be made payable, and all communications should be addressed, to THE WILMINGTON STAR CO

Sunday, June 28, 1914.

Oyster Bay is again on the map on account of the riotous aspirations of its leading citizen to be President again.

Gee! How we miss the editors because they went away and took all the lady press associationists with them.

While other towns are sweltering with heat it is refreshing to state that we can sleep under blankets in Wilmington every night if we don't mind it.

There is complaint in some towns about "water pressure" but in most all of them there is complaint that there is entirely too much water oppression.

The styles are pretty—prettier than ever. That's the truth in a nut shell, if most everybody will acknowledge what they believe. Seeing is believing.

Of course, it has been warm here the past few days, but not so oppressive as it is in the interior where it was as hot as the hinges of a fiery furnace of large size.

Without waiting to hear the voice of the people, without regard to their political convictions, we venture the assertion that most of the men of all parties want slick duckery cut out of politics.

A squall cooled off the atmosphere in Charleston and the Post immediately claimed the squall as a Charleston asset. However, what Charleston needs is a daily squall.

Some people expect the dove of peace in five or six weeks to hatch out a plan to put an immediate stop to war, calamity and anarchy of five years' duration.

A Washington couple remained mute during the wedding ceremony. It seems to have been a mutual affair to begin with, but only time will tell whether too much slack talk will be indulged in when muteness would pay better.

President Wilson predicts prosperity after his complete programme shall have been adopted by Congress. That's a safe guess. The times when this country is not prosperous are few and far between. The people make it prosperous in spite of politics.

When a Republican becomes a Democrat he has as much right to make trouble as any Democrat who thinks he has a right to make plenty of it if the party isn't run to suit him. With full rights accorded to Republicans, there is no reason why they should not become Democrats before the Bull Moosers get them.

London physicians found Colonel Roosevelt's larynx in bad shape and told him it had been strained during the campaign pursued by him for a third term in 1912. Doubtless the specialists are fully aware that the Colonel's larynx received its damage on account of his trying to get elected and not because of his leading in the shouting over the result of the election. We hate the thought of any man's having a broken larynx, but so far as the Colonel is concerned, it will be hard on him to try to use a larynx with a punctured tire. However, he is having it doctored, which is evidence that he expects to use his larynx on one more third term round in 1916.

NEW PRIMARY IN THE THIRD.

At its meeting in Raleigh Friday night, the Democratic State executive committee heard the appeal on behalf of the Hon. Chas. R. Thomas, of Newbern, protesting against the action of the district convention in nominating the Hon. George E. Hood, of Goldsboro, as the Democratic nominee in the Third congressional district. The committee heard representatives of both Messrs. Thomas and Hood and adopted a resolution instructing the district committee to call another primary in July to decide at the ballot box between these two gentlemen.

The executive committee heard from both sides the history of the recent preferential primary and the subsequent nomination of Mr. Hood by the district convention, in view of the fact that the district committee had not been able to count the votes and thereupon declare the result of the primary. After giving consideration to the question and the arguments, the committee came to the conclusion that the nomination of Mr. Hood by the convention was not a bona fide nomination, hence a new primary was ordered to be held under adequate rules and regulations which shall be fair to the two candidates and clear to the people.

The new primary was the only solution that would give Mr. Thomas another chance, so it is bound to be acceptable to him. Mr. Hood, too, must accept the solution, as he had agreed to abide by the decision of the State committee. The committee stood 24 to 20 in favor of a new primary, and it will be the best solution of a tangled and complicated political contest, the legitimate and logical result of one more soap box primary. What is most needed in the Third is harmony, and the Democrats in that district should heartily acquiesce in the primary and stand by the result next November, when the party's real triumph must be scored.

The majority in the State committee for a new primary was small, but it commits the committee to the primary idea. Indeed, the logic of the situation showed that nothing but a primary could be the means of giving both candidates a fair chance. It is a victory for the ballot primary principle and it will emphasize the necessity for a State-wide legalized primary system for the nomination of all officers.

There was criticism of the primary principle in the committee, whereas the criticism should have been leveled at and confined to the abortion which the Third had put over on it as a primary. Even the district committee which made the rules and regulations for that makeshift primary could not declare the results of the primary under their own indefinite and complicated rules and regulations, it seems.

Some of the speakers before the State committee declared no more primary was wanted in the Third, and that the idea was dead in the district, according to The Star's telegraphic report of the meeting in Raleigh. No amount of statement or argument on that line could possibly be made against a legalized primary, because the preferential article held in the district has no resemblance to a methodical and legalized system of making nominations by ballot.

The fact is, the soap box primary idea is a dead duck, and so is the manipulated convention method of making nominations. For the complications in the Third, the soap box primary is responsible, while to the contrary in the Tenth district it was the deadlock convention. In the Tenth also it was found that the only solution was a primary election to settle the contest between Gudger and Reynolds. In those two instances, one involving a makeshift primary and the other an out-of-date convention, the wisdom of the party turned to a fair, square primary as the remedy. The State-wide legalized kind will be the final method, and when it comes there will be no troubles for party committees, but only questions of the law and the facts to be passed upon by the courts as between the rights of contesting candidates.

ELOPED AND TOOK THE BABY.

A New York woman threw down everything a few days ago to go to Savannah in search of her baby and her husband. Her appeal to the police department there has been without result so far, but they are looking for the New York man and an actress who eloped with the little cherub member of his deserted home. He loved his little two-year-old, and it is curious that he should desert its mother and rob her of what was more precious to her than ten husbands.

The absconding husband might tear himself out of the heart of his wife and his place in it might be filled with bitterness and hate, but he could never tear that baby out of the heart of a mother though he may take it from her bosom and go to the farthest ends of the earth. That mother will spend every cent she has to get that baby back, but imagine what a joyous reward it would be for her to recover her child. Relief would take the place of a mother's rankling distress and intense anxiety and she would make herself penniless to once again clasp her own in a mother's arms.

The woman says she does not want her husband back and does not even care to lay eyes on him again, but she wants her child and will have every city in the South searched in order to get the real idol of her heart. It is hoped she may succeed, and that every Southern cop will help her to follow the trail. She says she never had any quarrels with her husband, but he just simply became infatuated with a girl whom he saw strutting around on the stage. He finally decided to take her and go but the baby was one link that tied him to his home. He took the little link along, and that is where he fell down. It is not a wife who is on his trail but a mother who is in search of her darling.

When that woman gets the baby it will be like tearing it away from the heart of a father who loves it, too, but she is fitter than he to have what is as dear to her as her own life. His actress may hold him for a while, but when the day of remorse comes her smiles will materialize into mockery and the loving father and delinquent husband will sneak back home and enter in by the back gate.

When a man plays the fool he cannot proudly walk in at the front gate. He may have the door slammed in his face, but apt as not when that New York man goes in at the back gate and tells a yarn about being duped and doped and dazed, he may be permitted to saw wood but he will never hear the last of his being a nut and an ingrate. The real tragedies in the home are more touching than those in the theatre, but when the baby plays a part the world will scorn the bad male actor, applaud the heroine mother and help her to get her baby again. That is what the New York mother wants and North Carolina mothers will wish her safe deliverance for her flesh and blood.

LOOK TO THE PEOPLE.

Zeb Vance used to believe implicitly in the people and have almost child-like confidence in the masses. For this reason that great and beloved son of North Carolina used to love the voice of the people and that is the reason their voice called him when he was living and yet calls him blessed.

Vance's absolute confidence and trust in the people was almost provoking at times. We know of no man who ever read public sentiment so closely and it dawns upon us that the people kept behind him because he kept up with them. The immortal Vance never had to surrender to the will of the people, but he acquiesced in it when he saw the people were right. Leaders sometimes do the leading, but there are times when the people get just a little bit ahead of their leaders. This is really what happens when it is referred to in common parlance with such words as "the people have taken the bit in their mouths." The interpretation of that is that there are times when people won't "gee" and they won't "haw" just because the reins are pulled. Along about that time no one should think of cracking a whip over the people. They won't stand for it, even if now and then they have been known to put their foot in it by not standing in line all the time.

The people are not to be trusted all the time. For instance, they can't be trusted to stand hitched or to stand still when they want to go forward. The people do not always move in a solid phalanx, but there are times when they make it about unanimous. There is one thing we particularly admire in the people of North Carolina and that is that they correct their own mistakes when they reflect over them. Indeed, it seems to be a peculiarity of the masses generally that the more they are trusted the more readily do they get right if they have gone wrong.

That is the reason we are willing just to leave it to the people, right or wrong, and depend on it that sooner or later everything will come out all right. Really, the people do not like to be wrong very long at a time. They will rally, so it is better to leave it to all the people instead of a few of the people. That is the essence of democracy—the pure, simple, unadulterated recognition of popular rights, finally resolved into firm belief in "the rule of the people." Let us take our heads out of the air and keep our ear to the ground.

Samson seems to have been a rough neck who pulled down the house, but how much easier and nicer it is for North Carolina orators to bring down the house with a few remarks on the necessity and political wisdom of giving the people a State-wide primary before they get tired being pulled around by the nose. You can pull the people around by the nose for a very, very long time, but shouldn't we stop to think of indulging apprehension of the possibility that they may some day rear back and get their noses out of joint?

The Washington Post says: "The business of the country needs strengthening repose." The alarm of business seems to give it away. Sooner or later business will wake up and refuse to acknowledge that it suffered from nightmare. To save our lives, we cannot see why business should be scared unless it is conscious of guilt.

Nobody anywhere is willing to admit that his town's name is mud.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The $210 hotel bill paid by Congressman Gudger as a result of the recent dead-locking convention at Waynesville is further and more conclusive proof of the folly of a candidate's bearing the expenses of delegates, many of whom have too much self-respect to let some one else pay a bill of this nature. If it keeps on long enough you will have to pay a delegate for his time.—Hendersonville Democrat.

The editor of The Dispatch is deeply grateful to the editor of the esteemed Morning Star for his generous and kind words. In fact, has been deeply touched, as it was on The Star that we began our newspaper career and in later years, upon changing positions, had the pleasure of and derived much benefit from working under the city editorship of the splendidly equipped and able journalist who is now editor of the progressive Star.—Wilmington Dispatch.

The extremely unusual spectacle of a horse heat-stricken on a Charlotte street causes us to urge more consideration for draught animals in hot weather than they have heretofore received. Suffering by horses standing or moving about for hours under an ardent sun's rays, with asphalt throwing up heat, stove-like, also from below, cannot be one-hundredth so infrequent as their actual prostration. They should have their brains protected by some sort of bonnet. In our Northern cities this is often seen. It and other means of protection or alleviation which readily suggest themselves are well worth while. We even have the idea that owners not sufficiently enlightened to take such measures in extreme hot weather after being urged become proper subjects for attention by officers of the law.—Charlotte Observer.

One of the maddest men in town this morning just after the fire at Hotel Guilford was under control, was Policeman Brown. George Galloway, a colored man, who carried the body of Mr. H. J. Callum down from the hallway of the fourth story of the hotel building, and then collapsed from the exertion and excitement, declined any assistance beyond asking to be sent to his home on High street. Policeman Brown was with him and asked Mordecai Hubbard, who runs an automobile for hire, to take the man home, but according to Brown, he refused. Then the officer offered to pay him, but he still declined and the city patrol wagon was summoned. It was an urgent case and Policeman Brown did not want to wait. The story comes from the lips of the officer and the presumption is that it is true, in which case Mr. Hubbard may find he has made a mistake. The public has its ideas of such things in emergency cases like this.—Greensboro Record.

We continue to believe that the great majority of the citizens and women of the United States are possessed of good sense. Just why some candidates for office and some men who are in office talk and act as though they believed the only way to get the votes of enough people to elect them to something is to treat them as numbskulls is beyond us. Despite the twaddle of numerous incompetents, who have never demonstrated any ability to make anything but noise, it is a safe bet that more candidates for office who talk common sense to the voters will be elected next November in Pennsylvania and elsewhere than freaks and make-believes who either do not know what they are talking about or who seem to think that the voters whose ballots they want to control are lacking in common sense. Preaching the doctrine that a living can be made without working for it makes a pleasant noise, but it fools no one but a fool, and there are too few fools arund to rule the U. S. A.—Philadelphia Record.

EDITORS ARE PLEASED.

Adopt Resolutions Thanking People of City for Entertainment.

The editors in attendance upon the annual meeting of the North Carolina Press Association expressed themselves as highly pleased with the splendid way in which the people of Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach entertained them. Resolutions as follows were adopted at the last business session Thursday night:

"The Association desires to express its hearty and sincere thanks to the railroads for courtesies; to the Tidewater Power Company for its liberal contribution to our comfort and pleasure; to Mr. Chas. E. Hooper, proprietor of the Oceanic Hotel, for his accommodating and courteous services; and especially to the citizens of Wilmington and the members of the press of that city for their open-handed cordiality which includes the Dutch supper and the excellent entertainment therewith, an automobile ride over the magnificent county roads and numerous other courtesies. We wish also to thank Capt. John W. Harper for the excursion down the Cape Fear, which is in prospect. These splendid people who made our visit so pleasant we will always hold in kindest remembrance.

LIEUT. F. S. SKINNER.

Son of Former Wilmington Rector Graduates from West Point.

Friends of Rev. F. N. Skinner, formerly rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church and for a number of years secretary of the Diocese of East Carolina, and of his son, Mr. Frederick S. Skinner, will be interested in the following account of the latter's graduation from West Point, taken from the Fairfield News, published at Ridgeway, S. C., where Rev. Mr. Skinner is the rector of St. Stephens' church:

"Mr. Frederick S. Skinner, son of the rector of St. Stephen's church, graduated June 12th, from the United tates Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., as second lieutenant, Corps of Engineers. Mr. Skinner was appointed to West Point from North Carolina, and graduated with the highest honors made by any cadet from North Carolina since 1900, his standing being No. 9 in a class of 107.

"Lieut. Skinner is expected home next week to spend the rest of his furlough with his parents."

MR. JNO. M. FARROW DEAD.

Passed Away Yesterday at Home at Masonboro.

Following an illness of three months or more, Mr. John A. Farrow died yesterday at 12:10 o'clock at his home at Masonboro, aged 74 years and three months. Mr. Farrow is survived only by his widow, who will have the sympathy of many friends in her bereavement.

The deceased was a veteran of the War Between the States, having fought bravely for the Southland during the four long years of the struggle. He was a member of Cape Fear Camp, No. 254, United Confederate Veterans.

The funeral will be held from the home this morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Mr. Marshall, pastor of the Masonboro Baptist church. Interment will be in the family burying ground.

PETITIONS NOT YET FILED

Taking the position that his petitions asking Council to call an election for the purpose of issuing bonds for raising $150,000 for a municipal electric light plant and spending $25,000 for sinking a battery of deep wells for a municipal water supply, which were turned over to the city clerk several days ago, have not yet been officially placed on file, Councilman T. W. Wood yesterday halted Mr. Hugh MacRae, president of the Tidewater Power Company, from taking a copy of the names on the lists.

Mr. MacRae went to the city hall yesterday morning with two assistants and secured the lists from the city clerk and treasurer, starting to copy them. Councilman Wood appeared in a short time and told Mr. MacRae that as the petitions had not yet been formally filed, they were not yet open to public inspection, a statement in which, he said, was made on the strength of the ruling of City Attorney E. K. Bryan. On the ruling of the city attorney, the city clerk informed Mr. MacRae that he could not allow the copying of the names to continue.

Mr. MacRae and Councilman Wood differed in opinion as to whether or not the petitions had been formally placed on file, Mr. MacRae holding that under the provision of the city charter they were already on file, while Mr. Wood contended that it would be necessary to formally present them to Council before they could be placed on file.

Speaking of the matter afterwards, Mr. MacRae said that he had noticed in the newspapers that the petitions had been turned over to the clerk, and that, as he understood the provisions of the city charter relative to special elections, such petitions became public as soon as given to the city clerk and treasurer to be checked up as provided in the charter.

Naturall being interested in the matter, Mr. MacRae said that he went to the city hall to run over the list of names, and that the papers were turned over to him by the clerk and treasurer.

Referring to the clause in the city charter bearing on the matter, Mr. MacRae had the following to say:

"Section 20 of the city charter, under which the petitions are presented, provides that petitions for an election shall be filed with the city clerk and treasurer, which petition shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought.' It is also provided that 'within ten days from the date of filing such petition the city clerk and treasurer shall examine and from the poll books ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified voters,' and 'that if, by the clerk and treasurer's certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same without prejudice, however, to its being filed again within ten days, containing additional names; and without prejudice to the filing of a new petition to the same effect, and further, 'that if the petition shall be deemed to be sufficient, the clerk and treasurer shall submit the same to the Council without delay; that if the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the Council shall order and fix a date for holding the said election,' etc.

"In filing these petitions with the city clerk and treasurer the provision in the city charter was complied with and the petitions, therefore, became public property.

"I do not hesitate to say that in my opinion it was an attempt on the part of Mr. Wood to get the petitions passed upon by the city clerk and treasurer before the fact of what was being done became generally known and if the petition was found to fill the requirements could have called an election without the other side being given a chance to be heard at all. In some way the fact that the petitions had been filed became known to the newspapers and was published.

"The petition, in my opinion, has actually been filed and I know that the city clerk and treasurer has already spent considerable time in going over the names."

Mr. Wood, in discussing the matter, said that it was his understanding of the clause in the charter that a petition calling for a special election was not officially filed until it had been presented to Council, and therefore, was not open to public inspection until then. He said that he secured the opinion of the city attorney before going to the city hall yesterday morning. The lists, he said, had been handed to the city clerk and treasurer to be gone over and checked up by him as a matter of convenience, as it would require considerable work to do this, and that there are yet several copies of the petitions out, containing more than 200 names. When the papers are officially presented to Council, Mr. Wood said, they would be open to the inspection of the Tidewater Power Company or anyone else. Mr. Wood declared that he had no objection to the Tidewater going over the names at the proper time, and in accordance with the provisions of the charter, but that he would object to anyone copying the names until the petitions are duly placed on file.

OSTEOPATHS IN RALEIGH.

Effort Will be Made to Bring Meeting to Wrightsville Next Year.

The North Carolina Osteopathic Board of Examination and Registration will hold their annual examinations at Raleigh, July 1 and 2. There are about 20 new osteopaths that will apply for license to practice their profession in the State this year.

Dr. M. J. Carson, of this city, is a member of the board and will leave here Tuesday afternoon. He will be accompanied by Dr. L. C. Allen, of Wilmington, and Dr. J. B. Durham, of Burgaw. Drs. Allen and Durham are applicants for license.

Drs. Carson and Allen will make an effort to have the North Carolina Osteopathic Society, which will hold their annual meeting in Raleigh next week, meet at Wrightsville next summer, as well as the board of examiners. All the attractions of this famous resort will be presented. These advantages in addition to Dr. Carson's official position of secretary and treasurer of the society will probably be successful in securing the meeting.

—Charlie Newkirk, who lives on the Castle Haynes road, exhibited at The Star office yesterday the hide from a six-foot rattlesnake killed a few days ago near his place on the main thoroughfare from Wilmington. The reptile had eight rattles and a button.

NEW CARRIERS AND CLERK

Three More Men Will be Added to Local Postoffice Staff in Response to Mr. Green's Request.

Postmaster H. McL. Green has been notified that he will be allowed an increase in his staff of carriers and clerks at the postoffice here, effective July 1st, when two additional carriers and one clerk will be added to the force. Mr. Green petitioned the department for an increase of three carriers and two clerks, and thinks he could have used all these to good advantage, but nevertheless, he is very much pleased over the decision of the department in allowing him three additional men.

The new positions will be filled from the waiting list of those who have stood the necessary civil service examinations. The men for the positions have not been appointed as yet, but the appointments will be made in the next few days, and the men will begin work on July 1st.

It will be remembered that several weeks ago the Postoffice Department sent several inspectors to the city in response to Postmaster Green's appeal for more clerks and carriers. These inspectors made a thorough survey of local conditions in the postoffice, spending several days in the work, and it was upon their recommendations that the decision of the Postoffice Department was made.

The new carriers will be used to help out the present staff of carriers. No additional routes will be laid out, but there will probably be some changes and divisions in the present routes, as some of the men now have extremely heavy routes. The additions will enable the local postoffice to improve its carrier service very considerably, by dividing up the work more evenly, and making for prompter and more efficient service. There will be no increase in the number of trips a day for the carriers.

The new clerk will be used in the money order department, which at present is hard worked with its present staff to keep up with the increasing business.

This is partly due to the parcel post, which has created a very large money order business out of Wilmington, as well as in every other community with good mail service. The parcel post, too, is responsible for the increased duties of the carriers, making it necessary to ask for the additional men here.

THE PEOPLE PAY FOR IT SAYS COLONEL TAYLOR.

New York Paper Comments on Statements Regarding Fire Insurance.

Col. Walker Taylor, of this city, is recognized as an authority on fire insurance not only by the people of North Carolina and throughout the South, but over the entire country. The New York Journal of Commerce, the leading business paper of America, in its issue of June 26th, has the following:

"Col. Walker Taylor, of Wilmington, N. C., who always throws light on the many important subjects of Southern underwriting he touches, had this to say at the recent meeting of Southern agents:

"'The insurance commissioners brag about how they have increased the revenue of the State by taxing the companies, but they never explain that the people who buy fire insurance have to pay this tax. It's the duty of the local agents to do this, and the quicker we get at it as a general proposition the stronger we will make our present position with our companies and the insuring public. I said to the South Carolina commission: "I think you should put in your newspapers, in type a foot long, the fact that the great Northern corporations are furnishing the funds to pay for running your State government. All honor to these institutions."

"'Great heavens! Wouldn't that make Governor Blease swell up and bust? I think it would. It would also start the public on the high road to find out what is being done to people who buy fire insurance to protect their business. That's what we want done. We want the insuring public to know the truth and the whole truth'."

SIXTH WEEK OF MEETINGS.

Mr. Haynes Will Preach Tonight on Nature of Man.

The sixth week of the long series of evangelistic meetings which is being conducted by Evangelist Carlyle B. Haynes in the big tent at Eleventh and Market streets, will open tonight with an address on the subject of "The Nature of Man." This will be the first of a series of five addresses on the important subject of human immortality, the other meetings being announced for the following nights of this week.

This subject has been taken up by the evangelist in order to answer the many questions which have been asked him in the question and answer services which he conducts at the close of each address at the tent. Questions bearing on the immortality of the soul, the state of the dead, the fate of the wicked, the reward of the righteous, where hell is, and heaven, and on the future life, will be covered in the discussion of the next few nights.

Back From Convention.

Mr. Thos. E. Cooper, president, and Mr. W. C. Denny, assistant cashier of the American National Bank, and Mr. Warren S. Johnson, assistant cashier of the Murchison National Bank, are back from attending the convention of the South Carolina Bankers' Association at the Isle of Palms. They report a splendid meeting, and declare that the South Carolina bankers are encouraged over the outlook. Delegates from all over the State reported improved business conditions and an optimistic tone generally in view of crop conditions.

CHAMBER FIRST TO ENDORSE

Wilmington Commercial Body Favorable to Panama Exposition—Conference Monday.

That Wilmington was the first city in North Carolina whose commercial body endorsed the Panama Pacific International Exposition will be of interest to many in view of the fact that a conference will be held in Governor Craig's office Monday to discuss ways and means of securing active public interest in this important event. The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce endorsed the exposition in a formal resolution on February 14th, 1913, when the idea of having the exposition was in its infancy.

It is most fitting and proper that this city should have such a great interest in this great exposition for there is probably no city in the State that will be more materially benefited by the Panama Canal than Wilmington. In view of this fact Wilmington citizens will heartily endorse any measures that will increase the prestige of North Carolina in the splendid exhibitions of industry and commerce that will be made there.

Secretary Branch, of the Chamber of Commerce, recently received a letter from Mr. Fred A. Olds, commissioner of North Carolina for the exposition, asking that the Chamber take action either through its directors or its members by a declaration of the extreme importance of the complete representation of North Carolina at the exposition. In the letter he also called attention to the fact that the Panama commission, the agricultural department's representatives and the representatives of the leading railways in this section of the country will have a conference in the office of Governor Craig's office on Monday.

In reply to the letter of Mr. Olds copies of the resolution adopted in February, of 1913, were sent to him and to Governor Craig. The resolution was introduced at a regular meeting of the Chamber and is as follows:

"To the General Assembly of North Carolina.

"Greeting:—The Panama-Pacific International Exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915 to celebrate the completion and opening of the Panama Canal will be an event of national and international importance, and should be made the occasion of great economic advantage to the State of North Carolina. The event will be absolutely unique both as respects the subject matter of the celebration and the far-reaching effects on the commercial relations of nations. The enterprise of the world will be represented and a like opportunity of exhibiting the resources of the State will probably never again offer.

"The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce invites the attention of the General Assembly of North Carolina to the subject and strongly recommends an appropriation commensurate with the importance of the occasion and a proper representation of the State and its resources.

"Resolved, That this memorial be presented to the General Assembly by the representative from this county and by the Senator from this district.

FOUND OLD BULLET.

Wilmington Man Gets Interesting Relic of Civil War in Richmond.

The following from the Rockingham Post will be of interest to many friends in Wilmington and elsewhere:

"Mr. Charlie Covington, of Wilmington, is spending a week or more in the county visiting relatives. Mr. Covington moved from this county to Wilmington thirty-odd years ago, and though he has been a frequent visitor, the present visit is his first opportunity to get a remembrance of his childhood from the old Covington home on what is now knwn as the Bostick place on route four. Mr. Covington says that when Sherman's army came through this section he was eight years old and distinctly remembers a skirmish which took place near his home between the cavalry of Wheeler and Kilpatrick. So close was the engagement to his home that the house, which is still standing, was struck a number of times by bullets. When the battle began he with two of his aunts took refuge behind a chimney, but later, being curious, he went to the front door to watch the fighting.

"While standing in the door two bullets struck the door facing, one, a small bullet from a cavalry rifle, struck within a few inches of his leg; the other, a minnie ball, knocked a hole in the top of the door. Tuesday, Mr. Covington went out and with a knife cut out the smaller bullet, and showed it to a number of his friends here. The wood was of fat pine and was in an excellent state of preservation, though nearly a hundred years old."

Was Cooler Yesterday.

Yesterday brought lower temperatures than have prevailed for the most part during the past week, the maximum registered during the day being 90, eight degrees cooler than the highest point reached by the mercury during the week. However, an excess humidity or some other atmospherical condition, made it hard to distinguish any great difference from the heat of the preceding days, and the public welcomed the customary half-holiday yesterday and spent the afternoon endeavoring to keep cool.

Donations to Kennedy Home.

The following donations were made to the Catherine Kennedy Home during the month of June: Mrs. Alice Everett, sugar; Mrs. H. F. Wilder, groceries; Mrs. Tom Bagley, groceries; Mrs. A. D. Wessell, Sr., buckwheat; Mrs. M. W. Jacobi, magazines; Mrs. L. K. Taylor, preserves; Mrs. C. D. Ford, a large drum; Mr R. R. Bellamy and Hicks Bunting, drugs; Plate Ice Co., and the Independent Ice Co., ice daily; a friend, coffee; a friend, rice.

Boat Schedules to Fort Fisher.

Effective July 1st, the steamer Fort Fisher will leave Wilmington every day for Kure pier, Fort Fisher Sea Beach, at 8 A. M. and 2 P. M. Returning, the boat will leave Fort Fisher Beach at 11:30 A. M. and 5:30 P. M. Stops will be made at the Rocks for the accommodation of fishing parties. The wharf is at the foot of Orange street. Capt. J. W. Mintz is master of the vessel.

—The fire department had two calls yesterday, the first at 10 o'clock being to the home of D. L. Starkey at No. 217 Nixon street, and the second one being at 2:15 to the home of John Clemmons at No. 112 North Tenth street. No damage resulted from either fire.

INSPECTING FOOD SUPPLIES

Health Department Will See That Market Conditions are Made Sanitary—Details.

For the past few days the Health Department has been busy making examinations of the places in Wilmington where foods are manufactured and kept for sale, such as markets, grocery stores, soda fountains, refreshment stands, ice cream parlors, and hotels, with the purpose of making them absolutely sanitary. The recent enlargement of the health budget has made it possible to do this work on a much more extensive scale than could be done previously.

The data is being collected by Dr. T. B. Carroll, city milk and dairy inspector, and Mr. Geo. F. Catlett, city chemist. They will visit the various places in the city in which foods are manufactured or sold and will make thorough inspections.

A system of grading has been adopted which will be put into effect as soon as the second inspection is made. The purpose of the department, it is stated, is to make one inspection of the various places each month. Where conditions are found to be unsanitary, the owners will be requested to make such corrections as are deemed necessary. After the second inspection has been made and the conditions are still found unsanitary the results of the grading will be published in the local papers, so that the people of the city may know where these places are.

A sufficient time will be given every owner or proprietor to allow him to put his place of business on an absolutely sanitary basis. The officials in charge state that it is their purpose to co-operate with those selling food supplies in order that their customers may be absolutely sure that the food they buy is entirely whole some and sanitary.

It is understood that the health department is laying especial emphasis upon the inspection of places where ice cream is manufactured and sold. Where deficiencies or defects in the arrangements have been found the proprietors have been asked to make such corrections as are necessary. At least one place where ice cream has been manufactured, it is said, has been closed down until the conditions are made absolutely sanitary.

ACCIDENT ON FRONT STREET.

Small Boy on Bicycle Ran Down by Automobile Driven by Mrs. Yates.

A bicycle ridden by Reginald DeOrange, a young white boy, was run down and badly bruised up yesterday morning by an automobile driven by Mrs. Jos. W. Yates. Fortunately, the boy sustained no broken bones or serious injuries, according to reports from the Harper Sanitarium, where he was carried for treatment, and it is expected that he will be out again in a short time.

DeOrange was thrown from the bicycle and it is stated by witnesses that one wheel passed over his body. The bicycle was rather badly battered up. Mrs. Yates immediately stopped the automobile and went to the assistance of the boy, who was carried to Shrier & Solomon's store, and from there taken to the Sanitarium. He was reported last night as resting well and with no serious injuries.

One of the witnesses to the accident was Policeman E. M. Sessoms, who stated that Mrs. Yates and the boy were both riding south on Front street, and that as they approached the corner of Princess, a Tidewater freight car, headed north, turned the corner. It was the opinion of the officer that Mrs. Yates and the boy, in attempting to avoid the freight car, collided.

GIVEN FELLOWSHIP DEGREE.

Dr. George K. Collier Honored by American College of Surgeons.

Many friends in the city will be pleased to know that Dr. George Kirby Collier, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Collier, of Wilmington, at the last annual meeting of the American College of Surgeons, held recently in Philadelphia, was awarded the fellowship degree of the organization and made a member. This is a high honor and is only conferred for distinguished work in surgery.

Dr. Collier has for more than ten years been located at Sonyea, N. Y., where he is connected with the New York State institution for epileptics. He has made a special study of this disease and is recognized as an authority.

Found Infant on Porch.

When Mrs. Delay returned to her home at No. 106 1-2 Queen street Friday afternoon she found on the porch a bright eyed infant in a baby carriage. Thinking that it had been left there for a short time, she did not make any inquiry to find out whose it was. However, no one made complaint and yesterday she reported the matter to the police. The infant was well dressed and is said to be very pretty. Mr. and Mrs. Delay are greatly pleased with the child and expect to keep it.

The Proof Is Here the Same As Everywhere.

For those who seek relief from kidney bachache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here in Wilmington the same as everywhere. Wilmington people have used Doan's and Wilmington people recommend Doan's, the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Wilmington proof. Investigate it.

S. C. Winner, jeweler, 215 Market street, Wilmington, N. C., says: "I know that Doan's kidney pills are a good kidney medicine, and I cheerfully confirm the statement I formerly gave in their favor. This remedy has been used in my family, being procured at Bellamy's drug store, and it has given relief from backache and other symptoms of kidney complaint."

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

Winona Terrace, 15 months old, ten modern houses built, three additional houses now in course of construction and two more to be begun this month.

Culvert built on Fourteenth street. Chestnut and Grace streets opened. Sewerage, water and gas pipes laid, electric light lines run.

High School (finest in North Carolina) to be built next year (site bought here). Red Cross street to be macadamized, creating a belt line, as this connects with Fifteenth street. Eleven hundred dollars' worth of additional cement sidewalks now being laid.

Winoca's progress is rapid, and steady, and sure. The lots are large in size, and low in price. The terms are easy, and it is the best place for a Home. Buy now, so as to have your home ready by Fall.

YES, YES

"I have resigned as manager of the Kentucky Horse and Mule Co., but have not gone out of business. If you want to buy a horse or mule, or hire one or have some hauling done, we have a stable at No. 114 North Second street. We have several good horses and mules on hand, and will have more pretty soon, of the right kind at the right price, and expect to carry a full supply as the season advances, and I thank my friends for the liberal patronage they have given me for the past twenty years, and hope to continue the same.

Our phone number is 801-J, so don't forget when you are in need of anything in our line to call, phone, or come around

Mr. E. H. Wessell, of Arizona, after an absence of five years, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wessell. He is being cordially welcomed and entertained by his relatives and friends. Mr. Wessell has for the past nine years been traveling in the West for a well known publishing concern.

* * *

The Fifth Street Epworth League will run a moonlight excursion up and down the Cape Fear river on Thursday night of this week. An orchestra will furnish music and refreshments will be served. An invitation is extended to the public to go with the crowd.

* * *

A large number of young people enjoyed a delightful dance at Overlake Pavilion, Greenfield Park, Friday evening. A soft breeze over the water removed the effects of the extreme heat, and good music and a congenial party combined to render the occasion a most enjoyable one.

* * *

Mr. T. G. Cobb, editor of the Morganton News-Herald, and two daughters, Misses Donnie and Annie Cobb, were guests at the Orton Hotel last night. They attended the annual meeting of the North Carolina Press Association at Wrightsville Beach. They will return to their home today.

* * *

Mr. and Mars. James Francis Post have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lydia, to Mr. Herbert Scott Snead, of Montclair, N. J. Miss Post has been studying voice culture for the past several winters in Baltimore, where she took a high stand in musical circles in that city. Mr. Snead graduated at Yale in 1909 and is now engaged in business in San Francisco, Cal. Both young people are very popular in social and musical circles and have a large coterie of friends who will be pleased to hear of their engagement.

SMALLBONES-GRADY NUPTIALS AT WAYCROSS, GA., THURSDAY

Miss Eva Grady, formerly of Clinton, and Mr. Theodore W. Smallbones, formerly of Wilmington, but now of Savannah, Ga., were married Thursday of last week at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. D. M. Pearsall, at Waycross, Ga., and are now visiting the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Smallbones, on North Third street.

Mr. Smallbones is a popular and successful young man, holding the responsible position of assistant paymaster for the A. C. L. in the Savannah district. Mrs. Smallbones is a charming and cultured young woman, with many friends throughout the Eastern North Carolina section. She is a daughter of the late Hon. B. F. Grady.

PRETTY WEDDING OF FAYETTEVILLE COUPLE.

Fayetteville, N. C., June 27.—Miss Ella Mitchell Thomson, daughter of Mr. J. P. Thomson, and Mr. Edward W. Percival, a member of the Armfield-Percival Motor Company, were married at 9 o'clock Tuesday evening at the residence of Col. W. S. Cook. The officiating clergymen were Rev. W. B. Royall, pastor Hay street Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Joel S. Snyder, pastor First Baptist church. There were no attendants.

The marriage, though simple and quiet, was very pretty, the ring service being used. The bride carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley, and wore a dark blue going-away suit with hat to match. The decorations were smilax, evergreens and sweet peas, with colored candles, and were very tastily arranged around an improvised altar, before which the marriage vows were said.

The wedding gifts were numerous, beautiful and costly, including many useful household articles. Mr. and Mrs. Percival left on the 11 o'clock A. C. L. northbound train for an extended bridal trip to Atlantic City, New York and other points.

WOMEN ARE SUCCESS ON GUILFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

A matter that has been agitated for some time among the women of the State is that of having women on public school boards. Several counties have already added women to their boards, among these being Guilford. The Star is requested to publish the following from Everything, a weekly paper published at Greensboro by Al Fairbrother, relative to their success in that county:

"The editor of this page has received a number of enquiries regarding the success of women on school boards in Guilford county.

"In order to get at the facts in each case we asked information of Mr. Thomas R. Foust, county superintendent of public instruction.

"Mr. Foust assures us that women on school boards have been so much of a success in Guilford county that he will ask that the number be increased the coming year. He says that wherever a woman has been put on the school board she has made her influence felt in a way that has been most helpful and that conditions show marked improvement. He would like to see a woman on the board in every school district in North Carolina, and recommends the adoption of this system wherever one can be found who is willing to serve.

MISSES WARD AND LUCAS ENTERTAIN AT CURRIE.

Currie, N. C., June 27.—At the home of Mrs. Bertha Lucas here Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, Misses Ward and Lucas entertained a number of their friends at a linen shower in honor of Miss Walker, whose marriage to Prof. C. H. Weatherly takes place on July 1st.

The guests were met at the door by Misses Ward and Lucas and escorted into the parlor and sitting room where they were entertained more than an hour. Then they were invited out on the lawn where small tables had been arranged, and where delicious refreshments were served, the color scheme of the wedding being carried out in the green and white cream and cake. After the refreshments were served and the guests had rested on the porch, a green and white express wagon appeared, drawn by little Miss Ella Bertha Lucas, who announced that there was some express for Miss Walker. The latter began to open packages, and much to her surprise, (as the object of the occasion had been kept a perfect secret from her) she found a shower of handsome hand-embroidered guest towels, center pieces and other articles too numerous to mention.

At 6 o'clock the guests took their departure, declaring Misses Ward and Lucas most charming hostesses and wishing for Miss Walker a long and happy life.

Wrightsville Beach

Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Williamson and Miss Emma Bellamy Williamson will spend the summer at Wrightsville Beach.

Mr. Emmett H. Bellamy, a law student at Columbia University, New York, will spend his summer vacation on Wrightsville Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Blumenthal, of Philadelphia, Pa., are spending some time at Wrightsville Beach at the home of Mrs. Blumenthal's mother, Mrs. Barbara Bear.

With these warm days and the fine surf bathing the prospects are that there will be a record-breaking crowd at the beach from the city this afternoon.

The season at the beach is now on in full swing, many guests having arrived yesterday and last night. Many arrivals are expected at the hotels and cottages today.

Included in the arrivals at the Hanover Inn yesterday were E. W. Law, Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Roberts, Hillsboro; Misses Elsie and Mamie Moseley, Birmingham, Ala.

An event of more than ordinary interest will be the one-step contest at Lumina Monday night. This is a new feature for Lumina but for the past several years has proven to very popular in the North.

The Sunday excursions of the Seaboard and Coast Line will no doubt attract many visitors to the beach today. There were more than 700 visitors from nearby towns last Sunday and the number is expected to be still larger today.

Mr. Geo. B. Kelly and family, of Birmingham, Ala., will arrive Monday to spend several days at the Oceanic Hotel. They were at the beach last year and have many friends who will be glad to greet them again.

Miss Mary H. Bellamy has returned from New York, where she has been attending the Finch school during the past winter, and will spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bellamy, at their cottage on the beach.

G. Sam Bradshaw, Esq., and daughter, Miss Mary Bradshaw, of Greensboro, were among the arrivals at the Seashore Hotel last night. Mr. Bradshaw is here to attend the annual meeting of the North Carolina Bar Association.

Included in the arrivals at the Oceanic Hotel yesterday were H. L. McCall, Charlotte; T. B. Webster, Baltimore; George K. Gilbert, St. Louis; I. C. Farmer, Baltimore; C. N. Sharp, Louisville; Bob Taylor, Greensboro; Jack Harper, Gastonia.

Hon. John L. McLaurin, former United States senator from South Carolina, and wife and daughters, are guests at the Seashore Hotel for a few days. They arrived Friday night, having motored through the country from their home at Bennettsville, S. C.

Judge J. S. Manning, a former member of the State Supreme court, now a member of the firm of Kitchin & Manning, of Raleigh and party, will arrive tomorrow for the annual meeting of the State Bar Association. They will be guests at the Oceanic Hotel.

Editor Joe Patton, of the Charlotte News, who is spending some time at the Oceanic Hotel, is rapidly acquiring a reputation as a fisherman rivaling that of many of the older and more experienced anglers. He was out again yesterday. He got a string but didn't take time to count them.

Yesterday the surf was at its best and the bathing houses on the beach were taxed to their utmost capacity to accommodate the large number of people. The water was warm, the tide was just right and the intense heat of the last few days made it especially attractive.

A party of disciples of "Ike Walton" spent an enjoyable Monday morning on the ocean, piloted by the congenial Capt. Wells on his launch Susannah. One hundred and seventy-seven pig fish and a large shark were caught. Mrs. Rieger, Misses Florence and Elizabeth Rieger, A. Dalgard and M. B. Mintz composed the party.

Capt. John W. Harper, the popular master and owner of the steamer Wilmington, was a welcome visitor on the beach Friday night. This was his first visit in 10 years and his third in 30 years. Naturally he noted many changes since his last visit and was greatly impressed with the remarkable development that has taken place. Captain Harper's duties on the steamer Wilmington keep him so busy that he doesn't have time to visit around much.

Included in the arrivals at the Seashore Hotel yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Jenkins, Chattanooga, Tenn.; B. C. Mardaza, Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Vasser and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Laurence, Lumberton; Mrs. C. D. Center, Atlanta; J. A. Hirschberg, Philadelphia; J. L. Hirsh, Louisville, Ky; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Narron, Smithfield; J. A. Godfrey, Anderson; Clyde Council, Wananish; W. H. Johnson, Detroit, Mich.; S. J. Royal, Florence, S. C.; Miss Mamie Nunnally, Durham; R. E. Crawford, Raleigh; A. S. Murphy, Richmond, Va.; D. T. and Sidney Wilbon, Richmond, Va.

The largest crowd of the season was present at the regular week-end dance at Lumina last night. The feature of the evening was the artistic dancing of Miss Chandler and Mr. West. They presented for the first time the Pavlowa Gavotte, the most famous of the dances of the celebrated Pavlowa, and the Cinquante-Cinquante, a new dance originated by Mr. West. The Gavotte is a beautiful dance and was brilliantly executed. This dance showed that Miss Chandler is an artist of exceptionally ability. The large audience present was very enthusiastic in their applause. The Cinaquante-Cinquante also made a most favorable impression and was well received.

In order to give more people an opportunity to hear the superb concerts of Don Richardson's New York Orchestra on Sunday afternoons and night, a change has been made in the time. The afternoon concert will begin at 4 o'clock instead of 3:30 as formerly. The night concert will begin at 8:45 o'clock. This will enable those from the city and the beach to be present at the beginning of the concerts. As usual, the afternoon concerts will be given over to selections made by the audience. This method has proven to be very popular with those who attend the concerts. The programme for the night concert includes several familiar selections that will appeal to lovers of good music. The hundreds of people that have been at Lumina for the last several Sundays is ample evidence of the popularity of this well equipped orchestra. The attendance today and tonight promises to surpass that of any previous day this season.

SOME FEATURES OF MUSIC AT LUMINA CONCERTS TODAY.

The first number on the programme for the Sunday night concert at Lumina by the Don Richardson New York orchestra today is a grand march from the opera "Aida." This march is notable for Verdi's departure from the conventional Italian forms and the particular surrender he made to the constantly increasing influence of the so-called "music of the future." The subject is entirely Egyptian, and the music throughout is full of Oriental color. It is considered one of the most pretentious works of its kind (march form) ever attempted.

Another number of interest is "The Bohemian Girl" grand opera, in three acts, words by Bunn, adapted from St. George's ballet of "The Gypsy," performed at the Paris Grand Opera in 1839—itself taken from a romance by Cervantes—was first produced in London, November 27, 1843, at Drury Lane.

The fame of "The Bohemian Girl" was not confined to England. It was translated into various European languages, and was one of the few English operas which secured a favorable hearing even in critical Germany. In itas Italian form it was produced at Drury Lane as "La Zingara," and also had the honor of being selected for the state performance connected with the marriage of the Princess Royal. The French version, under the name of "LaBohemienne," for which Balfe added several numbers, besides enlarging it to five acts ,was produced at the Theatre Lyrique, Paris, in 1869, and gained for him the Cross of the Legion of Honor. The scene of the opera is laid in Austria, and the first act introduces us to the chateau and grounds of Count Arnheim, Governor of Presburg, whose retainers are preparing for the chase, etc. Chief numbers of the first act are: "A Soldier's Life," sung by the count; "'Tis Sad to Leave Your Fatherland," by Thaddeus a Polish exile; "In the Gypsy's Life You May Read," by Devilshoof and chorus, and the finale, "Thou Who In Might Supreme," a prayer by entire chorus.

Other numbers in the opera are: "Silence, Silence, the Lady Moon," "I Dreamed I Dwelt in Marble Halls," "Come With the Gypsy Bride," "From the Valley and the Hills," "The Heart Bowed Down," "When Other Lips and Other Hearts," "When the Fair Land of Poland," etc.

"The Bomenian Girl" is perhaps the most popular of all the lighter operas and met the entire approbation of the public from its first performance.

SECOND SUIT BROUGHT AGAINST TIDEWATER.

Sum of $50,000 Asked for Death of Mr. J. C. Register.

For the second time, attorneys for Mrs. Martha J. Register started suit in Superior court yesterday against the Tidewater Power Company for the sum of $50,000, alleged damages for the death of her son, J. C. Register, who was killed two years ago today while working on the Tidewater's wires at Second and Castle streets.

Suit was started once before, and a trial was begun, but the court ordered non-suit, which decision was affirmed by the Supreme court. Therefore, the attorneys are beginning over again, asking the same sum as in the former suit.

It was stated yesterday that the complaint this time, in addition to the previous plea that the current was not turned off while the deceased was making a dangerous connection, will also contend that the Tidewater was negligent in not having the wires properly insulated.

The suit is brought by Mrs. Martha J. Register, administratrix, and the attorneys for the plaintiff are Jno. D. Bellamy & Son and Wm. J. Bellamy, Esq.

NEGRO SERIOUSLY HURT.

Melvin Hayes Shot Mack Judd in a Quarrel Makes Escape.

Melvin Hayes, colored, was seriously wounded by being shot by Mack Judd, another negro, at the Wilmington Cooperage Mill yesterday shortly after 12 o'clock. It is said that the two negroes were quarreling when Judd pulled out a pistol and fired inflicting a serious wound in the breast of the other negro. Immediately after he ran away and although the police made diligent search yesterday and last night had not been apprehended early this morning.

Hayes was carried to the James Walker Memorial Hospital for treatment. His wound is serious and he may die. No improvement in his condition had been made this morning.

SUIT FOR $10,000.

Brought Against Tidewater by Mr. Chas. D. Foard.

Representing Mr. Chas. D. Foard, Jno. D. Bellamy & Son yesterday started suit against the Tidewater Power Company for the sum of $10,000 alleged damages for a broken leg and other injuries sustained by John Hanby Foard, son of the plaintiff, when struck by a suburban car at Wrightsville Sound last summer.

The complaint alleges that negligence on the part of the Tidewater Power Company was responsible for the accident.

WORK OF NORTH CAROLINA GOOD ROAD ASSOCIATION

By D. Tucker Brown, Road Engineer and Organizer.

I shall give a brief history of the Association and the work that has been accomplished in the past, before discussing the steps that are necessary at present for a more permanent and valuable arganization.

In 1902 the North Carolina Good Roads Association was arganized for the purpose of promoting interest in the roads throughout the State of North Carolina.

The first work undertaken was large ly educational in character, although at the annual meetings road problems of all kinds were discussed by practical and theoretical men.

Meetings have from time to time been held in a large number of the counties, and local associations have been formed, their particular work being in the county in which they existed.

These meetings, and other educational work, have aroused the citizens of the state to see the necessity for better roads, and throughout all sections efforts have been made toward some sort of permanent improvement.

This statewide movement for the betterment of roads has not, however, been altogether as successful as it should have, and has not produced results commensurate with the enthusiasm aroused. There are several reasons for this and I shall mention a few of them.

1st. There has been no state department of roads with sufficient funds to furnish engineers of ability to advise with the counties in regard to their roads.

2nd. In a number of counties the advice of the association has been disregarded, and the roads have been constructed without technical advice, with the result that the work when complete was unsatisfactory. The expenditure of so much maney without proper results has been disheartening to a great many citizens, and to such an extent as to make them averse to future attempts at road building. This has also had its effect on adjoining communities and counties.

3rd. There has been very little effort made to systematically maintain the roads, and even though properly constructed, they have been allowed to deteriorate rapidly, with the result that criticism has fallen upon the ones who had charge of construction instead of upon those in whose care the roads were after the construction period.

4th. Without seeking the proper advise, communities have constructed roads of a class unsuitable for the traf fic which they were to accommodate. Consequently they have either a too costly road, or one whose maintenance cost is excessive, either of which have proven unsatisfactory.

Facts such as have been enumerated above have had a tendency to curb, (and it is not surprising that they should,) the good roads enthusiasm, and cause the citizens to be cautious in regard to investing large amounts in their public roads.

Another obstacle in the path of the good road enthusiast has been found in the method of financing the construction of roads. The country sections as a rule have not taken the interest in road improvement as have sections adjoining the towns, and on this account a great many county bond issues have failed, and the township as a unit has been resorted to, with the result that the road work throughout the State has been confined to many, and small sections.

Township bonds are seldom voted until the failure of a county issue, and when voted they are usually in the townships which contain the largest towns in the county, in other words in the richest townships. This places the more sparsely populated townships at a great disadvantage; they have lost the use of their county credit, and in a great many instances are unable to float a bond of any consequence.

With conditions such as these existing, it will be many years before North Carolina will have a system of roads which will be of any benefit to its citizens who wish to travel across the State, North, East, West, or South, from one county seat to another, or even from one township to another, to say nothing of the numberless tourists who come in from other States.

There are several roads under construction, namely, the Central Highway. The Crest of the Blue Ridge Highway, the Triangular Highway, and the National Highway, which will be of much service to through travel, as well as local; but how much better they would serve the State as a whole if they were used as arteries into which the lesser roads could be built.

The Association in its work throughout the State has always advocated a State department of roads, but realizing that this can only be secured by an act of the Legislature, it has in the meantime been insisting upon all counties and townships entering upon permanent road construction, or in the up-keep of their present systems, employing the services of a competent road engineer under whose direction their funds should be expended.

The time is long past when any one can build a road, and the modern road to meet the present traffic requirements demands for its proper location, construction and maintenance the intelligent and experienced services of a trained road builder, and until the Legislature gives a Highway Commission or until each and every county employs its own engineer there will be cries from the people. money being wasted, roads not properly built, no economy to build expensive roads unless they will last, and other criticisms to the same effect.

This neglect by the county officials of not placing their roads under the supervision of competent engineers has to a great extent halted the road movement in the State, and even where they have had engineers on construction they have dispensed thereafter with services. In consequence the roads are left to take care of themselves and soon become almost as if they had not been improved.

Disregard of the necessity for maintenance, and its natural effect in the ordinary layman's eye, reflects discredit upon the man who built the road, and leads to a general dissatisfaction with engineers, the most important asset to a construction force.

The Association has always held that the State is the proper unit, next the county, and then the township, but does not advocate the township system until all hope of the county as a unit has been exhausted.

In 1913 at its annual meeting the Association became affiliated with the National Highways Association which advocates a national system, a State system, and a county system of roads, each a unit within itself, but a part of the whole system.

The first step toward the development of this system in the State of North Carolina, is the establishment of a Highway department, and it is with this end in view that the Association is exerting all its energies.

I have been in a great many parts of the State, and have talked with, and to, a number of her citizens, and find the sentiment strongly in favor of a State department.

I have urged the citizens to give their time and energy toward accomplishing the results so necessary to the welfare of their whole State, and have besought them to register their names among the progressive citizens by becoming members of this association, whose sole object is the development of a magnificent system of roads throughout the United States in general, and North Carolina in particular.

I have met with much success where enthusiasm was sought, and I have organized several local branches of the State association, but have found the people reluctant as a rule toward becoming members and paying their dues for the support and advancement of such a vital and important work.

I feel, however, the work that is being accomplished, and the results that will inevitably follow will fully repay with gratification those who have lent their time and energy so untiringly, and the time will come when the leaders of the North Carolina Good Roads Association will be hailed as its greatest benefactors by the citizens of this State.

CHILD LABOR LAWS.

(Rockingham Post.)

No child under twelve years of age can be lawfully employed in any factory or manufacturing establishment within the State of North Carolina. There are some people, who in their zeal to take care of the children, would raise the limit under which children cannot be employed in factories to fourteen or fifteen years. While it is well to guard against working children excessive hours or subjecting them to such work as will injure their health, it is also necessary to guard against subjecting them to influences that are more serious sometimes than failure to develope the body. Habits of idleness and the vicious habits that are almost invariably the consequences of idleness should be given most serious attention and should be prevented with as much concern as weakness of body. Imperfect development of the child is a matter of gravest concern, but so is an undeveloped moral character. The former may become a matter of expense to the State. The latter may become both an expense and a menace to the public. Want of employment fosters idleness, and if it comes at the formative period of one's life, the consequences are likely to be in the highest degree disastrous. Many of the parents who are employed in the mills are too busy during the day to look after assigning their children tasks at home and give them the necessary supervision for the intelligent performance of their duties. Employment away from the home and outside the manufacturing establishment cannot always be found. In many cases to say that the girl or boy twelve to fifteen years of age shall not work in a factory is equivalent to saying that he shall have no employment at all. The consequences in some such cases would be fearful to contemplate. With father and mother both away from home, as would sometimes be necessary, there would be no one to give direction to the childen's energies. They would find an outlet in some channel, but who can tell where? And sometimes when only the father had to be away from home the mother, by reason of weakness of body or will, would be incapable of giving the thirteen-year-old son such direction and control as would insure to him development in the right direction.

If the schools were in session the whole of the year, they would offer a solution to the difficulty, but usually they run only about six months and are closed at the very time of the year that boys are most likely to wander from home, fall into bad company and acquire evil habits. Unless the State is going to provide adequant means for suitable employment for children at this critical time of life, it should be slow to encroach further upon the prerogratives of parents in the matter of giving them work.

It is a significant fact that the manufacturers' association of North Carolina at its recent meeting in Charlotte, representing seventy mills, passed a resolution asking the Legislature to amend the compulsory attendance law so as to raise the limit of those who are required to attend school from twelve to thirteen years of age. The mill-owners in many cases have been great friends to the public schools, and this is a step in the right direction. They have contributed many thousands of dollars towards their increased efficiency about the mill villages in Richmond county, besides cheerfully paying their school taxes.

Greenville, N. C., June 27.—Miss Lillian Carr was guest at a luncheon to a few chosen friends Tuesday. Bridge was the game on this occasion. Heart-shaped cards with the picture of a bride were the table guides to those playing and tiny bags of rice were attached to the score cards.

The occasion was the announcement of the engagement and forthcoming marriage October 28 next, of Miss Mattie Moye King, of this city, and Mr. L. W. Gaylord, of Plymouth.

EXTENSION WORK.

(Contributed.)

The United Society of Christian Endeavor, representing the Endeavor movement in the United States and Canada, with headquarters in Boston, is planning large extension work in all of the Southern States.

The Christian Endeavor movement has never been pushed in this part of the country, and people generally have not been sufficiently informed concerning the scope and character of the work done. In the Northwestern and Middle States, where it has been strongest, it has been the direct channel for the inspiration and practical training of men and women who are today engaged in pastoral, missionary, Bible school, social and other Christian work. In many cases, almost every member of a Christian Endeavor Society has given himself to Christian service as his life work.

The first step in this extension work was a conference of delegates from the Southern States held at Signal Mountain Inn, Chattanooga, June 12th, at which the National Field Secretary, Mr. Karl Lehmann, outlined the campaign proposed, and an "All-South Union of Christian Endeavor" was effected. Dr. Ira D. Landreth, Nashville, Tenn., was elected president; E. J. Harold, Greensboro, N. C., vice president; L. E. Brubaker, Birmingham, Ala., secretary, and P. T. Samuels, Atlanta, Ga., treasurer.

The conference petitioned the National office to release Mr. Lehmann to become secretary of the Southern States, which request, it is believed, will be granted. The Southern headquarters will be maintained in a city decided upon later, and an "All-South" convention will be held in 1916, which will be without doubt the most important gathering of the younger church workers the South has ever held.

Instead of each Southern State having a separate booth and exhibit at the great world's convention, to be held in Chicago in July, 1915, the solid South will fit up a booth, thereby being able to have a larger space and give a corresponding larger and finer exhibit. There will also be one headquarters for the entire South, in place of the State headquarters, thus helping to unify the interests and fellowship of the delegations. It is expected that there will be several hundred people to go from the "All-South Union" to the Chicago convention by special train.

It is necessary that this department of church life and work should keep pace with the development and extension of the New South, and that the vast opportunities for home, as well as foreign missionary work, be utilized in making the Southland preeminently Christian, as it is pre-eminently American.

Beautiful, Soft, Fluffy Hair An Aid to Beauty

Who does not love a head of pretty hair? Some women think it is a gift of nature and envy their more fortunate sisters. If your hair is not fluffy, soft and lustrous; is falling out, streaked, faded, brittle, or full of dandruff and if the scalp itches, do not think it must always be that way, for pretty hair is only a matter of care and proper nourishment of the hair roots. Hair is something like a plant—if neglected it soon withers and dies, while with a little attention it keeps fresh and beautiful.

Parisian Sage is a scientific preparation that supplies just the elements needed to invigorate the hair roots and stimulate the hair to grow long, thick, fluffy, soft and lustrous. It removes dandruff with one application and quickly stops itching head and falling hair. It is the ideal hair tonic and scalp treatment for men, women and children—contains nothing injurious and is delicately perfumed.

Robt. R. Bellamy, or any drug or toilet counter can supply you with Parisian Sage—it is inexpensive. You cannot be disappointed with this delightful and helpful hair tonic for the first few days' use will give the hair the beauty and charm of youth.

ROBESON COUNTY NEWS AND GOSSIP OF A WEEK

July Fourth to be Some Big Day in Lumberton.

Only Attraction Political, and Everybody Invited to "Come and Hear"—Huckleberry Crop Is Enormous.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 27.—Next Saturday, July 4th, is expected to be some big day in Lumberton. The only attraction your correspondent has heard of will be of a political nature, and if two or three factions, all calling themselves Democrats, get together and spit green at each other, there will not be time for anything else. Much is being written and said about reducing salaries and thereby reducing taxes. Truth is, there has been so much rot written and scattered broadcast that a great many people are getting disgusted and don't care which way the wind blows. The county home, where a limited number of poor persons are taken care of, is let out once a year by the county commissioners to the lowest bidder, and some seem o want the cout house let out the same way regardless of qualifications.

Everybody is invited to come to Lumberton next Saturday and hear something. The writer has heard it stated that the four candidates for Recorder of the Lumberton district, composed of nine townships, would be called on to enter into a joint debate on that day and tell the people what they are in favor of. If any candidate should decline to participate in the debate, voters would not be expected to recognize him as being a candidate—not in the race at all. Professor Tyson, candidate from Wishart's, says he is anxious for the joint debate and that he will convince his hearers who is going to be Recorder.

There seems to be absolutely no doubt that work will soon begin on a first-class hotel for Lumberton. It is understood that this has been brought about through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, but it seems impossible for the Chamber of Commerce, town officials or any one else to get a union passenger station. The doors and windows to be used in changing the present Seaboard passenger station are lying in the freight depot.

Delights of Wrightsville Beach.

More than 40 of the Lumberton boys, including the writer, spent several hours at Wrightsville Beach last Sunday, and while the writer has been there many times, the visit last Sunday was about the most pleasant of all. There may be a very few people who will not go there because they can't get a bottle of beer, but many will because it cannot be had. Those who go there expecting to find strong drink will be disappointed. The writer was told by those who know that it is not there. Your correspondent did not see a single person who indicated that he had even smelled any. Ideal place for ladies, gentlemen and children.

The huckleberry crop in this section is enormous, but pickers insinuate that in some places the crop is being badly damaged by so many candidates chasing through the woods, day and night. There are yet more than 40 days before the primary, and if some of the boys keep up the present gait, their families will be in doubt as to their identity when the fight is over.

That new auto fire fighting machine recently purchased by the town, has arrived and was on exhibition yesterday. It attracted no little attention, and most of the spectators who tried to get a glimpse of it as it flew by are convinced that it is a "rapid flyer." It is an up-to-date machine. Chief Jim Townsend is the happiest man in all this section. Many think it dangerous when allowed to run so fast. Some one said yesterday the machine made 72 miles an hour.

Beginning Thursday morning, the power plant was started at 9 o'clock for the benefit of those who have electric fans. This, it is understood, will be continued during the very hot weather which has prevailed here for the past several days. It has been the rule for the past two or three summers to start the plant at noon, but during the present weather, the fans are almost a necessity all the time, all the time.

Four New Store Buildings.

The contract has been let for four new one-story stores to be erected for Mr. Frank Gough on his vacant lot on Fourth street, between Chestnut and Walnut. The building at present occupied by Mr. Hinds, the butcher, will be moved onto Mr. Gough's lot along with the new buildings to be erected. Mr. Hinds will continue business in the building while it is being moved.

Mr. R. D. Caldwell and family visited Jackson Springs this week, traveling in their automobile. Upon their return, The Star man asked Mr. Caldwell about crop conditions along the route between here and the springs, and with a big satisfied smile he replied, "The best you ever saw."

Miss Tillie Weinstein, of this place, and Mr. Silverstein, of Charlotte, will be married at the Jewish synagogue here tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, and leave immediately for Charlotte. Quite a number of out-of-town friends are here to attend the ceremony.

Dr. R. T. Allen attended the annual meeting of the North Carolina Dental Society which was held at Hendersonville this week.

The iron bridge which has done service across Lumber river at the foot of Fifth street for the past 30 years, is now being removed to make room for the new bridge to be erected at the same point. The old bridge will take the place of the wooden bridge across the river just below Kingsdale. The new bridge to be erected in town will be twice the width of the old one.

The Lumberton Ice Company received 300 Florida melons this week, many of which brought 50 and 75 cents.

A good many home-grown peaches have been brought in during the week, some very nice and some very common.

Since the rains of a few days ago fishermen have been out of business but if the present hot weather continues and no rain, the river will soon be down again and the fish will fare badly.

Mr. Q. T. Williams has been confined at home for the last several days on account of sickness.

Mr. Rufus Sanderson, who was operated on for appendicitis at the Thompson Hospital two weeks ago, expects to be able to return home tomorrow.

To Hear Blease and Smith.

Senator Smith and Governor Blease, of South Carolina, will meet in joint debate in Marion on Thursday, August 13. Already quite a number here have expressed their intention of taking in the show.

The condition of Mrs. Bertha Bethea, whose critical illness was reported in yesterday's Star, is slightly improved and the attending physicians say she will recover.

After going to 103 for two days, the temperature here reached only 98 degrees yesterday.

The family of Mr. K. M. Biggs has moved to their country home for the summer.

Mr. O. L. Smith, of Tar Heel, was in town this morning and told your correspondent about losing a horse yesterday as the result of taking fright at a flash of lightning Thursday afternoon. The horse had been left standing hitched to a tooth harrow, and a sudden sharp flash of lightning caused it to take fright and plunge into a ditch. With great difficulty the suffering animal was removed from the ditch, and yesterday morning it was found that its back was broken and it had to be shot.

Mr. James Shelby, for several years a salesman for Mr. A. Weinstein, expects to leave tomorrow evening for Reedsville, Va., where he will take the position of manager of a ladies' furnishing store.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Varser, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Beckwith left this morning for Wrightsville Beach. Messrs. Varser and Lawrence will attend the annual meeting of the North Carolina Bar Association at the beach the coming week.

Mr. H. B. McPhaul, brother of Dr. W. A. McPhaul, is very sick of typhoid fever in a Laurinburg hospital. His mother and sister have arrived from Alabama to be with him.

Mrs. E. C. Butler and two children left this morning for Washington, N. C., to spend some time with relatives.

NAVAL MILITIA PREPARING FOR FINEST OUTING YET.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., June 27.—Members of the North Carolina naval militia are actively engaged in preparing for the finest outing they have ever had the opportunity for. At Elizabeth City, Hertford, Washington and Newbern the men of the divisions are drilling and posting up for a real man-of-war cruise on salt water. They will embark in Hampton Roads on July 6 for a 15-day trip to the Bermuda Islands, where they will be given plenty of shore liberty to view the sights of the British settlements. The Rhode Island is the ship which will carry them. The cruise will be the first under the naval militia act adopted by Congress last winter. The reserves will draw full regular pay, and do the same work as the regular ship's company, manning the batteries for target practice, scrubbing decks, lowering away boats and doing all manner of things in the routine. The militiamen will be awarded marks of efficiency if they deserve them for gunnery proficiency. Besides the North Carolinians, the naval reserves of New Jersey and Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia will be aboard the Rhode Island.

PLANS FOR DECISIVE VOTE ON JULY 1ST ABANDONED.

Chairman Henry Suggests Postponement on Hobson Resolution.

Washington, June 26.—Plans for a decisive vote in the House Rules committee on July 1st on the Hobson constitutional amendment for Nation-wide prohibition have been abandoned. Chairman Henry in the midst of a campaign in Texas, has suggested a postponement until August 1st and the Democratic members have concurred.

DR. McCLURE AT BOARDMAN.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Boardman, N. C., June 27.—On Thursday evening in the Boy Scouts' new building, was held the first anniversary service of the Boardman Lodge of Odd Fellows No. 378.

The service was a very impressive one, the speaker of the evening being the widely known and much loved Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, of Wilmington, N. C., who has introduced in a very proper manner by Dr. Jas. M. Northington.

Dr. McClure, as usual, preached a powerful sermon, explaining fully what Oddfellowship means and of the many charities they have from time to time dispensed throughout North America, chief among them being the supporting and educating of the orphans of Odd Fellows, who have passed to the Great Beyond. Dr. McClure dwelt on this subject strongly, and very touchingly paid tribute to this noble institution.

He also spoke in glowing terms of Mr. E. B. Wright, who so generously erected and donated such a grand hall for the children and different lodges of the town. He also paid high tribute to Dr. Northington for the great work he has done in this town and county.

The service was very well attended, not only by the town people, but also by the Whiteville Lodge, who came in a body.

The music and singing was beautifully rendered by Mrs. W. R. McKellar, ably assisted by the Boardman choir.

MORE MONEY FROM LEGAL NOTICES AND FOREIGN ADS

How the Newspapers May Get It is Told in Paper Written by Editor O. F. Crowson, of the Burlington News, and Read by Editor H. B. Varner, Before the State Press Convention.

The following paper on "How to Get More Money From Legal Notices and Foreign Advertising," was written by Editor O. F. Crowson, of the Burlington News, and read by Editor H. B. Varner before the State Press Association Thursday, Mr. Crowson not being able to attend.

There comes a time in the lives of even editors when it is necessary to discuss practical things, and I am sure that each newspaper man present here today will agree with me when I say that a very important subject has been assigned to me. It is a subject that we ought to give the most serious consideration, and I hope that I may say something that will cause each of us to think, and that some action will be taken to relieve a situation that has been bad for a long time.

We North Carolina editors are good people, but it can be truthfully said that we are the poorest set of business men on the face of the earth. We spend too much of our time looking after the business of the other fellow, and too little time in looking after our own affairs. This is because of our profession as news gatherers, which develops this trait within us.

A poor little half-starved editor will sit back in his office on an old split-bottomed chair, and solve the financial problems of the world while bills that are past due are piled upon his desk so high that he cannot find his hat.

We come to our Press convention and spend our time in discussing the ills of humanity, the triumphs of science and the progress of civilization, but little time is given to the discussion of those practical things that will make us better editors and more successful business men.

It is time for the newspaper men of this State to stop, look and listen! It is time for us to take stock of our own affairs and talk business among ourselves.

For the first ten years of our life as a newspaper man we considered that every dollar we received from "foreign" advertising was just so much picked up in the road. We took this business at any price we could get, and the advertiser paid us any old price he wanted to. Later we began to wake up and advanced our rates. The advertiser immediately increased his space. He had a better opinion of us. Finding that this worked well, we made another advance and again business increased. On the first day of this year we advanced our rates on all advertising 25 per cent., and it is a fact that our advertising immediately increased over 25 per cent. The thing has worked so well that we are thinking of making a 25 per cent. increase every thirty days, and buy out George Walter Newman's gold mine in Cabarrus county. Last year we seldom printed more than eight pages each week. Since we have begun to increase our advertising rates we print from ten to twelve pages weekly.

The day has come when the man who has a thing to sell must have confidence in his own wares before he can inspire confidence in others.

This preamble leading up to our subject is to show that whatever condition prevails in this State among the newspaper men with reference to the prices paid for advertising and the amount of advertising received is the work of the publisher and not the fault of the advertiser. The newspaper men have sat still while other agencies have been active.

As we go from town to town and from city to city we see the country lined with immense billboards on which are displayed in flaming colors and letters well known manufactured articles. These billboards are owned by men who belong to an active organization. If you want to have your name on one of these boards you must pay the price. You must pay a uniform price, and you must conform to conditions laid down by the billboard organizations. That is the result of organization and co-operation. As a result of this organization where hundreds of dollars are paid for newspaper advertising in this State thousands of dollars are paid for billboard advertising.

There is a leading magazine published in Philadelphia that charges four or five thousand dollars for a small page advertisement, one insertion. In order to get into this magazine you must speak a year in advance, have a card of introduction, and give all kinds of signs and countersigns. Why? Because they have gone after business until business must now go after them. They have worked systematically and effectively until today they are recognized as the standard means of advertising by the big agencies of the country.

If a salesman comes to town and wants to sell a bill of goods, he tells the prospective buyer or merchant that his goods are advertised in all the leading magazines of the country. When he says this he stands back of his "jew claws," looks wise and thinks he has covered the whole field of advertising medium. He never says that his products are advertised in the newspapers of the country in which he expects to do business. He has not considered or thought of the newspaper as an advertising medium. Why? Simply because the newspapers have not demanded recognition.

Where thousands of dollars are spent in the newspapers by advertisers and advertising agencies, millions are spent through the magazines.

These are the conditions, and we all know it, and these conditions are going to continue so long as the newspapers have no effective, active organization that will go after business.

The newspaper is a medium that has never been excelled and that never will be excelled as an advertising medium. The man in town and in the country reads his county paper, passes it over to his wife, the wife reads it and passes it over to the children, and after the whole family have finished reading all about themselves, their kinsfolk and their neighbors, they send the paper to their neighbors across the street and the above process is gone through again until one paper is read and re-read by the whole neighborhood and saved for Sunday so that the parson may keep up with what has transpired during the week.

Talk about your advertising mediums, there is nothing on the face of the globe, in the heavens above nor the earth beneath that can come within a mile of the newspaper as an advertising medium.

We know that the newspaper is the medium above all others for the successful advertisers, but we have never yet found a way of proving this fact to the advertisers. We have never yet attempted to prove this. We have made no effort to secure business, and the wonder is that we get as much as we do.

No one paper, no matter how progressive it may be, can afford to go after business in a successful way, because it will cost more than the business will amount to in presenting the matter to the prospective advertiser. Consequently, our only hope and the only way that we can secure more business and better business, at better prices, is in effecting an organization that will include every newspaper in North Carolina so that we can send a personal representative to the big cities and centers and there lay our claims before the manufacturer and the advertising agencies.

When we send this representative to these centers he must be able to say that he has a list of papers that covers the State so that if the advertising agency or the manufacturer wants to blanket the State he can do so only through the list represented by this personal representative. We must employ the best man that can be had and send him out with a list that includes every representative paper in North Carolina, so that he can insure that through his list of newspapers every home can be reached and that outside of this list not a dollar need be spent in reaching the people. This organization should be so perfect that in order to reach every man, woman and child in this State this list of newspapers should have to be included in every advertising appropriation made. This organization should be so perfect that no agency could ignore this list of newspapers. This organization should be so perfect that a fair rate of advertising could be demanded and secured.

If we could perfect such an organization through this association we would start a movement that would revolutionize the advertising business throughout this country.

We are tired of the billboard and magazine being used exclusively by the big advertisers, while the newspapers are neglected and ignored, and we are tired of seeing our brethren of the press sit idly by, refusing or neglecting to raise their voices in presenting their claims of the newspaper as an advertising medium. We can deliver the goods, and it is our own fault that we have not been recognized years ago, and that we have not been getting our share of business at a fair living rate. This we will never do until we perfect such an organization as is suggested above.

Another crying evil that has been an everlasting injustice to the newspaper is that of the legal rate for advertising. We have a law relating to legal advertising as old and ancient as the hills. This law provides that we shall receive three dollars for a legal land sale, and $2.50 per executor's sale. If the land sale be three inches we are allowed $3 for same. If it be 24 inches we are allowed by law $3. We had a lawyer send us a land sale recently. There were twelve different lots of land, each fully described as to meets and bounds. It occupied a space of two columns set in solid eight point type. We sent the lawyer a bill for this advertising and he sent us a check not for the amount charged, but for $3. When we protested he said we could get more by law if we could. We could find no law whereby we could get more, and made him a present of his three dollars. But we determined then that if we could find any way that we could secure the enactment of a law that would give to us a more just and equitable system of rates for legal advertising we would exert our utmost effort along that line, and we are today calling upon this convention and begging that such action will be taken as will remedy this crying evil and that will give to the publishers a systematic schedule of rates.

These are important matters and we hope that they will be thoroughly considered by this body of newspaper men and that some immediate action will be taken along the lines suggested.

The power of organization is very aptly illustrated by a story we read recently. A certain professor was very unpopular among the student body of a large college. One day a clinic was to be held in which it was necessary to administer "laughing" gas to one of the students. As is well known this gas has different effects upon different people. One of the well known effects is that of making one utterly unconscious of what he is saying. The boys concluded to take advantage of this fact to tell the pofessor just what the public thought of him, and it was arranged that the one selected to take the gas should pretend to be delirious and tell the professor just what the public Everything was prepared and when the victim was supposed to have taken enough to have the effect he opened up on the despised professor. He told him that he was all kinds of a hypocrite, and was warming up right, with all kinds of abuse when the professor turned to the class and said, while there was a trace of a smile on his face: I want to show you the power of suggestion. This young man who is telling me these interesting things has not taken any gas. I failed to turn the nozzle of the tbue and he is acting entirely upon the power of suggestion, which teaches in the most positive manner the truth of this philosophy.

We can demonstrate the power of organization and co-operation when we go to the advertiser and tell him of the advantages that we have to offer and give him some facts and figures to back up our statements.

MOUNT OLIVE NEWS.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Mount Olive, N. C., June 27.—Operation of the main plant of the Enterprise Lumber Company's large lumber mill here has been suspended for about 10 days, and the company's large force of employes has been kept busy making repairs, putting in new machinery, etc., by which it is expected to increase the daily average output when operation of the main plant is resumed.

Work on Mount Olive's new tobacco warehouse is progressing very rapidly, and the building will be completed as early as possible—in time for the opening of the season; and the managers have been assured by two or three of the leading tobacco companies that the market here would not lack for buyers. And it is believed that if this market gets its fair share of tobacco grown in the surrounding territory, it ought to easily handle one and a half or two million pounds a season.

According to reports received here almost daily, the rains of the past few days have practically offset the damage of the drought to the corn and cotton crops, wherever the farmers were successful in getting early stands, and the indications now point to a splendid yield from each of these crops; however, a good many of the farmers were unable to get a good stand of cotton as early as they should have, and this will, of course, operate to curtail the total yield, even though the seasons are the most favorable from now on.

COUNTRY CLUB RAIDED.

Fairmont, W. Va., June 26.—Activity attending preparations for enforcement of the prohibition amendment, operative next Tuesday, was increased here today when officers, acting under orders of the State tax commissioners, raided the fashionable Fairmont country club.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT ARRIVES HOME AND PLUNGES INTO POLITICS AGAIN

New York, June 27.—Col. Roosevelt on his return trip from Europe, where he attended the wedding of his son Kermit in Madrid, at once plunged into political affairs. He reiterated his statement that he would not run for Governor of New York. He came out flatfooted for George W. Perkins, one of the most prominent Progressives, who is under fire from Amos Pinchot. He issued a 2,000 word statement attacking the Wilson stand in Mexican affairs and defending his canal attitude when he was President. The Colonel said he had had two severe chills coming over. He said he had been ordered not to talk in the open, as his throat was bothering him.

MISSIONARY NEWS FROM THE WORLD AT LARGE

By IDA CLYDE CLARKE.

The Christian forces of the city of Tokyo have, through a representative committee, for months been planning to inaugurate a special evangelistic campaign in connection with the Taisho exposition. The plans are fully matured, and the inauguration ceremony opening the campaign was held at the building especially built for the work.

His excellency, Gov. Muuekata, governor of Tokyo Fu and the official head of the exhibition, sent his representative to read a congratulatory address. In this address his excellency expressed deep satisfaction that the Christian forces of Tokyo had undertaken to carry on an aggressive campaign for the moral and spiritual uplift of the thousands who would attend the exhibition.

Baron Sakatani, Tokyo's efficient mayor, graced the occasion with his presence. He delivered a short address that voiced high ideals and had a ring of sincerity. He deeply deprecated the fact that a cause so worthy had to carry on its work in such inadequate quarters. He said that it was a sad fact, and yet it must be faced as a fact, that the other buildings of the exhibition in their immensity and grandeur represented the material and physical progress of the nation, while the comparatively small and insignificant building provided for this Christian campaign represented the spiritual advance of the nation. Throughout the world the spiritual progress lags behind that of the material. That the spiritual progress of Japan is so far behind that of the material is a cause of real concern. On the contrary, he expressed his strong conviction that the work and results of a campaign such as was here being inaugurated could not be judged by the quarters in which it was conducted. Unseen things cannot be measured by those which are seen. And this campaign had to do with the things which are unseen. As such, it is a movement much larger than the building in which it is housed. This campaign will make a real contribution to those who are hungry for the things that are unseen, and he wished it the greatest possible success.

Pastor Hoshino and Col. Yamamura gave stirring addresses. Representatives of the Japan temperance movement and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union spoke words of encouragement.

The campaign will be conducted daily during the four months of the exhibition. An experienced evangelist will manage the campaign, and all of the Christian denominations working in the city of Tokyo will unite in helping to have continuous preaching from 2 o'clock until 6 every afternoon.

In addition to this there will be morning and evening meetings for children, for women, for young men and for inquirers. There will also be temperance meetings, social purity meetings, and magic lantern meetings. It is especially hoped that it will be possible to do a good deal of work for women and children. The scope of the campaign is therefore broader than that of any hitherto undertaken on similar occasions.—The Japanese Advertiser.

Sunday Schools in China.

One of the most encouraging features of our work in China is the rapid growth in number of the Sunday schools and in increased attendance. From all of our fields come encouraging reports of new schools organized and of the good work being done in them. We can scarcely realize the great and important influence these schools are exerting on the coming generation in this great republic.

No other agency has such power to completely change the whole future of this great nation toward Christ and His gospel. Many of the boys and girls who go out from these schools are going to be the future statesmen and men of affairs and the future mothers of China. The impressions imprinted indelibly on their souls during this period are going to remain with them and mold their policies in public life and their morality in business and commerce, and the impressions stamped on the hearts of these future mothers are going to tell in such a way in their children as means the death knell of idolatry and superstition.

Here is a case in point: A girl and her little brother have been coming to our Sunday school from the heathen home. The girl was converted and refused to burn incense before the ancestral tablets, and through her influence the mother has also given up idolatry, and will not have any part in this idol worship either. As a result, the father has made the little boy, who is also a member of our Sunday school, burn this incense to the ancestral tablets. However, the little fellow has so far received the truth of the gospel that when told to light and set up the incense sticks, he only does it under the strongest protest, praying meanwhile in his little broken-hearted voice: "Heavenly Father, please don't blame me; it is not my sin, it is my father compels me to do it."

Idolatry is a thing of the past for practically all those who have been through our Sunday schools.—Rev. J. L. Galloway.

Shintoist Praises Christianity.

"Count Okuma, the recently chosen prime minister of Japan, although a Shintoist, is a true progressive and stands for the best in all things," writes Missionary F. Herron Smith. "He honored our college at Tokyo—Aoyama Gakiuin—by addressing the graduates at this year's commencement.

"On this occasion Count Okuma declared that many Buddhist priests of today drink sake (rice whiskey); that bribes are accepted even by prominent officials wearing decorations from the emperor. He said further that wicked men nowadays have no fear of hell and feel safe in transgressing to the limit. Accordingly, they have become very unruly.

"'I hope,' concluded Count Okuma, 'that you young men, going out from this college, will work earnestly in all classes of society, and will do your utmost to eliminate existing corruption.'"

An earnest advocate of the Christian religion, the count is quoted as saying that it is the best solution of Japan's problem.

Christian Railroad Official.

A missionary in Japan writes: "The superintendent of the Kyushu railway is an earnest Christian, and it is through him that two passes have been furnished for railway evangelists as soon as the men can be secured. An opportunity to work on the main lines with a native evangelist was offered me.

"This would reach several thousand men, with almost no expense, except the salary of the evangelist. This gives a wonderful opportunity to reach these young men in positions of responsibility and is worthy of most earnest prayer."

An Interesting Story.

Miss Willie Kelley, a missionary at Shanghai, China, tells this interesting little story: "At Quinsan the greatest comfort and faith-strengthener is the paralytic, Zung Ta Ta, as the Chinese call her. I had a chair made for her (she paying for it) in March, and since then, rain or shine, cold or hot, her smiling face has been there Sunday mornings and Thursday afternoons.

"Sometimes she gives very audible evidences of approbation when things are said that please her ready and attentive ear.

"How my heart has been comforted and my faith increased by visits to her room.

"The dark, damp and dirty walls and surroundings are all forgotten when one sees her beaming face, where truly the beauty of holiness is seen. I have found her reading aloud the book of Psalms as many as ten times this year. How she loves them."

News from Many Lands.

While the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, as a whole gave 46 cents per capita to missions in 1913, the women in the foreign department of the Women's Missionary Council contributed $2.19 per capita, and those in the home department $1.88 per capita.

Rev. W. B. Bagby, who has been a missionary on the firing line in Brazil for 34 years, reports that Brazil has 12,000 Baptists, with over 200 churches.

It is said that there are about 30,000 deaf mutes in the South. Rev. J. W. Micheals is doing a great evangelistic work among them.

It is said that Eastern Asia has 150,000 representatives in the United States of whom 100,000 will eventually return.

It is stated that there are in the Southern Presbyterian church 735 pastorless churches and 275 places where churches could be organized if ministers to do the work were available.

The present Sunday school enrollment of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is 1,814,000. The number of church members is 2,004,080.

The six American missionary boards having work in Korea have agreed that Seoul is the proper place for the proposed Christian university.

GOES ON RECORD AS OPPOSED TO CHILD LABOR

Atlantic City, N. J., June 26.—In line with the general movement for the uplift of humanity which has been crystalizing among the 41,000 members of the American Medical Association during the past few years and which assumed definite shape during the Medical Congress in session here since Tuesday, the house of delegates in which is centered the administrative functions of the body, went on record today as opposed to the evils of child labor. Resolutions deploring conditions under which many thousands of children labor were unanimously adopted.

New York, June 27.—The marvelous air stunts of Charles F. Niles, one of the most daring of American aviators, stamps him as the maddest little cut-up with a monoplane that ever gave death the ha! ha! in this country. Niles hopes to win $1,000 on the Fourth of July in the aerial race up and down the Hudson along New York City if he doesn't lose his air pilot's license for flying over New York's skyscrapers during his dip the dip, loop the loop and corkscrew stunts. He claims oil got in his eyes and he could not see that he was over the tallest buildings in the world, while half of lower New York, including unfrenzied Wall Street, stared in utter amazement at his absolutely marvelous antics in the sky.

MOSTLY CONTEMPLATIVE

By T. W Chambliss.

"He that sent me is with me: He hath not left me alone: for I do always the things that are pleasing to Him."—The Gospel according to John.

In these few words the Galilean Teacher lays before his audience the perfect ideal of life, and the beautiful teaching comes at the end of the quotation—"the things that please Him." Perfect human life is the doing of those things. Manrealizes perfectly all the ossibilities of his wonderous being when living in the realm of "the things that please Him." Consequently it is in these words that Christ reveals the perfect ideal of human life.

The Godlessness that is to be found on every hand is awfully tragic, awfully sad. Not merely because Godlessness is rebellion against God but it is a falling short of the highest and noblest possibilities in our own lives. The highest realm for us is the realm where our thoughts, deeds, methods, everything in our lives pleases God.

In the words quoted, the Teacher tells us that He has always done "the things that are pleasing to Him." He stood, that day, in the presence of His enemies, those who were constantly watching His every action and looking them squarely in the face, with absolute knowledge that His word could not be questioned. He said "I do always the things that are pleasing to Him." He does not say, "I teach them." But "I always do them." Never in the life of this Galilean Teacher did more wonderful words fall from his lips concerning his own life. When the vision of that life of deeds pleasing to God comes to us it brings the only ideal life before our mind's eye and is to us a revelation of God's purpose for men and therefore a revelation of the highest possibility of human life.

The Teacher brings us another thought as we read the word of the verse quoted. "He that sent me is with me: He hath not left me alone:" God present with Him. In the lonely, trying hour for life's battle do you not sometimes long for Divine companionship? In the moment of the deepest gloom and densest darkness, when the fogs are so heavy and it is well nigh impossible to grasp your place, your thought turns to Him and you long for the companionship of His guiding hand. The same longing should fill hearts light and bright. When the sunshine warms and cheers, not alone in the time of storm there should be and there often is the longing for His manifested presence. The Teacher tells you why He was always present with Him, and can we not expect His constant presence with us under like circumstances? If we, in our living, with our opportunities, were to "always do the things pleasing to Him" the same constant presence of God would be our blessing.

It is pleasing to God that men—His creation—shall be bigger, better, business fellows, winning in the battle of brain. Failure to win is failure to honor Him in the highest measure. It is pleasing to God that we—His creation—shall be cultured and with the acquired knowledge bring greater honor to Him. It is pleasing to Him that we use our brain, our hand, our all in striving to acquire greater power, remembering that we are His stewards and the acquired knowledge, power and means are to be placed at His service and used for His glory.

True happiness will come to men when they can with pride—yes true pride—stand in the presence of their fellows and say calmly: "Look into my life—I do always the things that are pleasing to Him."

Impossible? Not so—the ideal life is not an impossibility. Man can live lives that are pleasing to God. Men—some men—are living these lives and more men should, and more men will.

Lesson I.—Third Quarter, For July 5, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xx, 1-16. Memory Verses, 6, 7—Golden Text, Matt. v, 45—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This lesson is found only in the gospel by Matthew and follows immediately his saying concerning the Son of Man in the throne of His glory and the apostles upon twelve thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel, closing with the words about the first being last and and the last first. Our lesson today closed with the same words, with the addition of "for many may be called, but few chosen" (Matt. xix, 27-30; xx, 16). The same words about few and many are found in Matt. xxii, 14.

It is sadly true that, while many hear the glad tidings, but few comparatively really receive the good news, and it is also true that of those who become Christians but few are willing to be disciples because of selfishness and worldliness and because they do not know the power of His resurrection and kingdom and glory.

The present age of the mystery of the kingdom is the time in which the redeemed of the Lord are called to be "fellow workers unto the kingdom of God," "laborers together with God," "workers together with Him" (Col. iv, 11; I Cor. iii, 9; II Cor. vi, 1). The reference to the vineyard in this lesson and in chap. xxi takes us back to Isa. v, 1-7; Ps. lxxx, and other Old Testament passages, but for us the most helpful reference is that of the vine and the branches and the fruit to the glory of God in John xv.

In a recent lesson our Lord spoke of recompense at the resurrection of the just, and we know from Rev. xxii, 12, and I Pet. v, 4, and elsewhere that the time of reward for service will be at the second coming of Christ, when every one shall receive his own reward according to his own labor, but there is a recompense in all service even here, a foretaste of better things to come. Perhaps the "penny a day" suggests present reward in this life. There should be no idlers among believers, for the record says "to every man his work" (Mark xiii, 34).

In reference to the material for the building of the tabernacle Mr. Moody used to say that the poorest child could bring a few goat's hairs (Ex. xxv, 1-8). When the wall of Jerusalem was rebuilt by Nehemiah, among the builders were priests, Levites, rulers, merchants, apothecaries, goldsmiths and even women (Neh. iii, 8, 12, 17, 22, 32). They seemed poorly qualified for such service, but they had a mind to work, and, though they were despised and mocked, they prayed and kept at it and finished it, and their enemies had to acknowledge that the work was wrought of God (Neh. iv, 4, 6, 9).

In all service for Christ it must be God working in us, both to will and to do, the vine bearing fruit through the branches, for He said, "Without me ye can do nothing" (Phil. ii, 13; John xv, 5). The laborers of today's lesson, at least the first batch, seem to be time servers who agreed to work for so much. To the others He said, "Whatsoever is right I will give you (verses 2, 4, 7). When His love constrains we will not think of reward for service either here or hereafter. Ruth was not thinking of recompense when she clung to Naomi and said, "Entreat me not to leave thee or to return from following after thee" (Ruth i, 16-18).

It was devotion to David that led Ittai to cling to him with similar words (II Sam. xv, 21). The same thing is seen in Elisha's repeated refusals to leave Elijah II Kings ii, 2, 4, 6). Such an attitude is the only one for true service. Simon Peter thought that he had it when he said, "Lord, I will lay down my life for Thy sake" (John xiii, 37), but he did not know himself. Paul really had it when he said, "I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus" (Acts xxi, 13. See also Acts xx, 24; Rom. i, 14-16; I Cor. ix, 22; x, 33).

With so many millions on earth who have never yet heard the gospel, who know nothing whatever of the love of God, the gift of His Son, eternal redemption provided in Him, a kingdom to be shared by the whosoevers who will accept Him, how can any one be said to truly rejoice in the Lord or be any kind of a disciple who is not consumed with a desire to serve such a Saviour and make known His salvation without ever a thought of recompense here or hereafter? I have heard of heathen in China haggling about how much they would get for saving a man who was drowning before their eyes before they would attempt to save him, but what shall be said of Christians who want to know what their reward shall be for telling others of the redemption which they themselves have freely received, or what shall be said of those who think more of their own church or denomination than of gathering the church, His body, from all the world that He may come again, set up His kingdom and see of the travail of His soul in a world subjected unto Him and filled with righteousness and peace? For "He must reign till He hath put all enemies under His feet," but He will not begin His reign till He shall receive His bride at the resurrection of the just (I Cor. xv, 23-25). Serving the living and true God means doing that which He appointed us, not working up or working out some scheme of our own.

Irvin S. Cobb Swaps Yarns With Our Mutual Girl and Her Aunt

Famous Author Telling One of His Darky Stories.

Our Mutual Girl is safe. Dunbar, the Man of Mystery, found her. He did it by a clever piece of detective work too.

Dunbar saw a well dressed young man walk up the steps of the home of Mrs. Knickerbocker, Margaret's aunt, and hesitate as he was about to ring the bell. He looked at a newspaper clipping and then hurried away.

Dunbar followed, and the young man, seeing that he was watched, broke into a run and jumped into an auto, which speeded away. Dunbar got in another car and followed. After a long chase through Westchester county Dunbar trailed the fugitive to his home.

Dunbar climbed through a window, went upstairs, opened a door and caught a glimpse of Margaret. Ordered out of the house, Dunbar forced a confession from the stranger, who gave the name of John Travers. He said that three weeks before his auto had struck Margaret, knocked her down and severely injured her. Being afraid of the police, he had taken Margaret to his home and turned her over to his mother and a physician.

Margaret was out of danger, and Travers was about to notify her aunt, he said. Dunbar volunteered to go for Mrs. Knickerbocker, and soon aunt and niece were again together.

The successful termination of the long search for Margaret may be seen by the public on and after June 22 in the coming chapter of Our Mutual Girl serial.

"The Voice at the Phone" Gives Hello-Girl Detective the Clue

Scene from the Kay Bee Drama.

An intensely dramatic love story is "The Voice at the Phone," a four reel Mutual feature produced under the Kay Bee brand and released June 19 and 26, two reels each week. The interest is sufficiently strong to hold for the week that will elapse between the two releases.

A son quarrels with his father because of his love for a girl employed at the telephone exchange. The father thinks her station too low for her to become his daughter-in-law. The son is ordered from the house. He returns later and secretly enters his old home at midnight to obtain a few keepsakes. He does not desire to meet his father again.

While the son is in the house a burglar enters and attacks his father. The telephone is overturned, and the telephone girl, alone in the exchange, hears the disturbance and the voice of the burglar. She notifies the police, who find the son bending over his father, with a bundle of stuff that he had packed lying near. He is arrested, but is finally saved through the arrest of the burglar, whose voice was recognized by the telephone girl sweetheart.

MUSIC IN GENERAL IN THE FIRST CENTURY A. D.

By Don Richardson

Music had shared in the general quickening of life which followed the establishment of Christ's kingdom on earth. It was shall we say, the first fair flower of the spirit pushing its way through yet wintry darkness to proclaim to the world the new spring; Kiesewetter, in his History of European Music, tells how this new Christian music was born unnoticed in huts and out-of-the-way places, in caves and catacombs where early Christians were assembled. They were but poor and simple folk for the most part, who knew nothing of a Greek music system, enharmonic and chromatic. Their hearts were full of hope and joy, and when a heart is so full that it cannot contain its fullness any longer, it flows over in tears or in melodies, this is the beginning of all true music.

The early Christians sang. May be it was at first only a simple la la of the soul, joined to a psalm, a prayer, or an Allelulia, Amen; extemporaneous, without time, and without form and rule; a rising and falling of the voices (unison) to the rhythm of the syllables, as the bird swings on his branch to the rhythm of the breeze. But gradually certain accents, certain turns, and cadences were retained, and through frequent repetitions these primitive melodies become fixed in the Christian communities, and were handed down to succeeding generations.

In the third and fourth centuries, when the spreading of the Christian faith had made mere oral transmission of the melodies more and more impossible, and yet the necessity of uniformity in the singing only more urgent in proportion, some learned and able bishops like Ambrosius (333-397) began to collect and sift the scattered material and, with some knowledge of the ancient Greek systems, commit it to writing. Still later, Gregory the Great gave it its final shape in the modes and chants which ever since have been identified with his name and church music generally, and which lie at the root of our glorious musical art.

Did musical instruments exist? Of course, Greek and Roman instruments endured well into the Middle Ages. The new Christian art, however, being essentially vocal in its nature and import, while we may presume that this or that Biblical instrument like the harp, the psalter, etc. continued an honorable existence, if not in connection with religious ceremonies, at least in the better Christian homes, (The organ, of course, was employed from the ninth century to accompany the singing in churches and served for teaching purposes) The majority of instruments, those former companions at pagan feasts and revelries, were shunned at first by the Christians, and then gradually driven by prejudicial Church influence, together with the instrumentalists, to the periphery of social life. Here lived, and indeed was very much alive, the large community of gladiators, histrions, buffoons, showmen, rope-walkers, dancers, and all such as catered to man's worldly lusts and appetites. They were a remnant of ancient Roman corporations, swelled by new promiscuous elements, a motley, homeless crowd of semi-vagabonds, invaders and devastators. We find them first in Gaul and Spain, then gradually spreading north and east and west, beyond the Danube and the Rhyne, and many a little band may have, on Norman vessels, reached the British Isles long before King Alfred went as minstrel (singer) They roamed about the land in large and in small bands, with women, children, dogs, and carts in search of a hard-earned livelihood. To attract attention, to amuse at any price was the first consideration; music, such as it was, only an accessory. To the present day, and largely on account of this primeval custom, among the minstrels, vagabonds, do we find among a very large class of the world's music-lovers a spirit of superiority towards the poor devil who makes his livelihood through the performance of some musical instrument.

THE SILENT WITNESS

(By Irene Hunt.)

SCENE FROM "THE SILENT WITNESS."

Witnesses!

Have you ever stopped to think of the many witnesses there are in the world? Everybody flustering about this planet at present is a witness of, for, or to something occurring every hour of the day, every minute of the hour. And yet, how many of these witnesses could give an accurate account of what they have witnessed during the day, if they were called upon by a jury to do so? The power of memory has never been perfected to such a degree that it can accurately record and retain what the eye observes. Although a court will accept the oath of a witness to a tragedy, yet the great tribunal of human nature would question the reliability of that same witness.

Some years ago a college professor had a murder enacted by a portion of his class, while the remaining members acted as witnesses. His purpose was to test the power of human memory. Although everyone in the audience saw the tragedy enacted before their eyes, when called upon to testify to what they had seen, not two members of the class gave the same description. So much for the power of memory.

But the camera never lies. It records what it sees with terrible truth. Did you ever stop to think what an interesting gallery you would have if every action of your life had been caught by the lens of a camera? What then would you have to say about the testimony of The Silent Witness? You could not deny one truth, with a grimness behind it.

In "The Silent Witness," which is shortly being released by the Victor-Universal Company, with J. Warren Kerrigan in the leading role, the power of the camera as a witness is broadly dealt with, and proves, beyond all reasonable doubt, the great part the silent witness has played in the solving of crime. The piece is certain to interest all who witness it, for it is one of the most powerful this company has yet produced.

With the opening Thursday of debate on the Newlands Trade Commission bill, the fight began to put the administration anti-trust programme through the Senate. On motion of Senator Newlands, the trade commission measure was made the unfinished business, with an agreement that its consideration should not interfere with appropriation bills.

One hundred Virginia tobacco growers representing every farmers' union in the State, appealed for relief from low prices to the joint House and Senate commission recently created to investigate the tobacco industry. "We have failed both as an organization and as individual citizens," D. M. Gannaway, president of the State union, told the commission, "so we have come to the government of the United States for relief."

Under a "new constitution of freedom" for business, given by anti-trust legislation soon to be passed by Congress, President Wilson Thursday promised the country the greatest business boom in its history. This was the President's final answer to opponents of trust legislation at this session of Congress and to prophets of evil times, delivered with determined expression and every word emphasized with clinched fist.

Theodore Roosevelt, who returned to America on the Imperator Wednesday, vigorously defended George W. Perkins, chairman of the Progressive National Executive committee, whose resignation as chairman was demanded recently by Amos Pinchot. Mr. Pinchot had declared Mr. Perkins' affiliation with certain big business interests made him unfit to hold his position. "When they read Perkins out," said Col. Roosevelt, "they will have to read me out too."

Brief News Stories of The Carolinas

The excessive hot weather is having a serious effect on building operations at Wilson and a number of men employed on buildings have been forced to quit work during a part of the day.

After a most enjoyable session of two days, featured by a programme of interesting papers, a banquet at the New Briggs Hotel and an automobile drive, the 13th annual session of the North Carolina Veterinary Association closed at Wilson Wednesday to meet next year in Asheville.

The seven-day chautauqua brought to Wilson by a committee of thirty Wilson men opened Friday afternoon and will continue through the days until Thursday night, July 2. Among the noted men on the programme are Judge Ben Lindsey, Rev. Frank Dixon and Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell.

Announcement is made by Governor Craig that he appoints Dr. S. Westry Battle, of Asheville, as his personal representative at the great "Independence Day" celebration in Philadelphia July 4th, Dr. Battle being surgeon general of the North Carolina National Guard through appointment by Governor Craig.

State Treasurer B. R. Lacy has sent out to all the county sheriffs in the State urgent letters calling on them to undertake the careful enforcement of the State law that requires all automobile agents to have State licenses or duplicates of licenses for the machines they are offering for sale.

Mrs. J. C. Grady, who was injured in the wreck on the Atlantic Coast Line several weeks ago, has been taken to Richmond for treatment. The railway officials sent a private car to Wilson after Mrs. Grady and Drs. Thomas and Crawford, of Wilmington, went there to accompany her. It appears that Mrs. Grady suffered a fractured vertebrae.

The Kinston Chamber of Commerce may be asked to begin a programme of educating the world as to the proper name of Kinston. A great deal of stuff which arrives in the express offices, railroad stations and the postoffice is directed to "Kingston," N. C., and business men and patriotic citizens feel the sting of the inaccurate designation.

The National Forest Reservation Commission has approved for purchase by the government a number of tracts in Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, totalling more than 27,000 acres. About 13,500 acres are in North Carolina, principally in the Mt. Mitchell region, about 7,000 acres in Tennessee, and 6,000 acres in West Virginia.

A little six-year-old daughter of Neal Brewington, a worthy colored man, was killed near his home at Clinton Wednesday by the accidental discharge of a 22-calibre rifle in the hands of a little brother of the victim. The boy had taken the gun from the house of a neighbor and in playing with it caused it to go off, the bullet passing through the heart of his sister and causing instant death.

Goldsboro will have its first "musical festival" on the night of August 3. Arthur Whiteley, the well known director of a band there, has invited the Second Infantry band to be the guests of his organization that evening. On the third the members of the Second band, comprising the cream of brass and reed musical talent in all of Eastern Carolina, will gather at Kinston to go to summer maneuvers.

A wave of crime has been hanging over Fayetteville and Cumberland county recently. Within the last thirty days four homicides have been committed—three in Fayetteville and its suburbs and one in a remote township. Besides there was a "near" killing in a pistol duel at Manchester, twelve miles north of Fayetteville. Both were shot, one very seriously, and he is now lying in Highsmith hospital.

An address by Attorney J. C. Kittrell, of the Henderson bar, the presentation of a past grand master's jewel to Col. John Nichols, of Raleigh, in recognition of his 57 years affiliation with the Masonic fraternity, and the exercises of the orphan children were the outstanding events on the programme of St. John's Day exercises at Oxford Wednesday. An assembly variously estimated from 8,000 to 9,000 attended the exercises.

The commencement exercises for the orphanage of the North Carolina Methodist Conference at Raleigh were held Thursday, the feature being a most creditable concert by the children of the institution. The commencement address was by B. R. Lacy, State treasurer. There are four orphans who complete their courses with the institution at this time and go out to take positions on their own account.

Dr. Joseph H. Foy, well known in Eastern Carolina, has been pensioned by Andrew Carnegie. The award is for distinguished service as an educator for the last 50 years. The multimillionaire has before him from all over the United States, a New York newspaper says, endorsements paying the rarest tributes to the veteran schoolmaster, and the Laird of Skibo ordered his private secretary to put Dr. Foy's name on his private list.

Commissioner James R. Young, of the State Department of Insurance, has been notified by Deputy Commissioner of Insurance W. A. Scott from Wiston-Salem that he has procured the arrest there of two men charged with the burning of a corner grocery store they operated in a suburb of the Twin City. They are K. L. Cobler and T. B. Owen. Mr. Scott also advised the commissioner of insurance that he had retained ex-Judge E. B. Jones to prosecute the two men in the preliminary hearings. The charge is burning the store for the insurance. The men were bound over to court.

The selection of Durham as the place of holding the next meeting and the selection of the following officers to serve during the coming year, were features of the final day of the ninth annual convention of the North Carolina Jewelers' Association, which convened at Asheville Tuesday for a session of two days: Frank M. Jolly, Raleigh, president; Charles E. Henderson, Asheville, vice president; W. B. Morris, Gastonia, secretary and treasurer; William G. Frazier, Durham, and H. M. Vansleen, Gastonia, members of the executive committee.

The North Carolina Press Association opened its 42nd annual session Wednesday morning in the convention hall of the Oceanic Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, with an attendance not surpassed in many years. Three sessions were held Wednesday, two sessions Thursday, and the meeting came to a close Friday evening following an all-day trip down the Cape Fear river to Southport, Fort Caswell and other points of interest. In addition to the business sessions held on Wednesday, the social features of the convention also began that evening with an elaborate Dutch supper in the dining hall at The Oceanic. Other social features included an automobile ride over the improved roads of New Hanover county Thursday afternoon, a complimentary dance given by the Tidewater Power Company at Lumina, that night, and the all-day river trip Friday, when the members of the association were the guests jointly of Capt. Jno. W. Harper, of the steamer Wilmington, and the Southport Commercial Association. The election of officers for the ensuing year, the endorsement of the proposed constitutional amendments to the State constitution, and also of the Adair bill now before Congress, granting interState transportation by railroads in exchange for newspaper advertising, were the principal features of a lengthy business session of the association Thursday morning. Hon. W. C. Hammer was unanimously elected as president and Mr. James H. Cowan, of Wilmington, was made first vice president. Mr. J. B. Sherrill, of Concord, for the 27th time was elected secretary of the organization. Predicting that the next big industrial expansion will be in the South, Norman Hapgood, editor of Harper's Weekly, New York, in his address before the association Thursday night at the Oceanic Hotel, defined the task of the Southern editor as being to catch the spirit of the age to make success and virtue the same thing, to make truth the basis of business and to take the lead in setting the intellectual pitch of the community in which they live. He paid high tribute to President Wilson's administration, stating that he doubted that if any previous administration had done as much to focus the ideas of the day into action as his has done.

Wood's Seeds

Seed Potatoes
FOR FALL CROP.

The planting of Seed Potatoes in June and July is increasing to a wonderful extent. A great many farmers claim that they give better crops planted at this time than they do when planted in the spring. Potatoes planted in June and July mature in the cool weather of the fall, at a time when they can be harvested to best advantage.

The Seed Potatoes we offer are put in cold storage early in the season, so as to keep in first-class, vigorous condition.

The Week Locally

A neatly printed booklet setting forth the advantages of Wilmington for the location of a branch reserve bank, prepared by the central bank committee, was distributed to the members of the North Carolina Press Association at the last business meeting Thursday night.

Wilmington Shriners, many of whom will likely attend, have received attractive announcements of the forthcoming ceremonial of Oasis Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., which is to be held in Asheville three days beginning Thursday, July 3, which promises to be one of the most elaborate ever staged in that city.

"The best outing we have ever had," was the unanimous verdict of the members of the Wilmington police department on their return to the city Thursday night after the annual police outing and excursion to Carolina Beach, when all the members of the force and about 1,000 of their friends spent the entire day at the popular resort.

After completing a crowded programme of three days and enjoying an automobile tour to surrounding points of interest, the 40th annual convention of the North Carolina Dental Society, at Hendersonville, adjourned to meet next year at Wrightsville Beach, provided suitable rates can be secured, with Raleigh named as second choice.

In all probability the community health work now being carried on in the northern part of New Hanover county by the Rockefeller Hookworm Commission will be extended to take in several other communities of the same size, thus covering practically the entire county, according to a letter from Dr. W. P. Jacocks, acting director of the work, which was read at a special meeting of the Board of Health held Tuesday afternoon.

The 16th annual meeting of the North Carolina Bar Association convenes at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, Monday night and will be in session through Wednesday. The programme includes addresses by such notable men as Chief Justice Walter Clark, of Raleigh; Hon. A. J. Montague, of Richmond, Va.; Hon. Rome G. Brown, of Minneapolis, Minn., and A. L. Brooks, Esq., of Greensboro.

Pursuant to the authority vested in the State Board of Public Charities to inspect the several penal and charitable institutions throughout North Carolina, it has been decided that the most effective method of proceeding would be to appoint a committee of three from each county. In accordance with this authority the following committee has been appointed for New Hanover county: Rev. Thos. P. Noe, chairman; Rev. A. J. Howell and Mr. W. H. Schaefer.

Prospects for the early realization of North Carolina's hopes for an improved roadway from the mountins to the sea are brighter than in some time, in view of the recent action of several counties along the Wilmington-Charlotte highway in voting bonds for stretches of that thoroughfare, and the further fact that the Charlotte-Asheville highway, according to State Geologist Joseph Hyde Pratt, will in all probability be completed by the latter part of 1914.

Offering substantial reductions in the charges for arc lights and a slight decrease in the price of Tungstens, the Tidewater Power Company through Mr. A. B. Skelding Wednesday submitted to council a new light contract, effective as of June 1, but Councilman Wood balked on the moonlight schedule and several other particulars and the matter went over. Evidently the hot weather was not conducive to the transaction of business for most of the other matters coming up for consideration fared the same fate.

The lack of a suitable auditorium and proper accommodations for the large number of delegates it would bring, will prevent the proposed summer encampment and chautauqua for the Baptists of North Carolina from being held here or at one of the adjacent summer resorts this year, and the Baptists of this State will affiliate with the annual denominational encampment at Virginia Beach next month, which will be attended also by Baptists of Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

The newly elected officers of the three Masonic orders, St. John's Lodge No. 1, Wilmington Lodge No. 319, and Orient Lodge No. 395, were installed with impressive exercises on Wednesday evening by Past Master Robert C. DeRosset, retiring master of Orient Lodge, assisted by Past Master C. L. Meister, of St. John's Lodge, as marshal, and Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, of Wilmington Lodge, as chaplain. At the close of this ceremony in an appropriate and impressive speech, Mr. A. S. Holden, secretary of St. John's Lodge No. 1, presented to Past Master Dr. John C. Wessell, a gold past master's jewel for St. John's Lodge.

An increase in the State and county tax rate to cover the interest on the new bond issues of $275,000 for roads and schools is probable, according to a statement issued by Chairman M. S. Willard, of the Board of County Commissioners. The rate last year was $1.10, of which 62 2-3 cents is fixed by the State; 20 2-3 voted by the people, and 21 2-3 levied by the commissioners for general purposes. This year an additional amount of $13,750, the interest on the new bonds, will have to be provided, and there seems to be no way of taking care of the increase other than by increasing the rate as voted by the people. Chairman Willard, in his statement, declares that any suggestions from the public will be welcomed.

Irrigates the Blood Knocks Rheumatism

To get rid of rheumatism requires that the blood be completely flushed—not a mere makeshift as by salts and pain killers. The long record of S. S. S. is important to know. It has found its way into every section of the nation. It is the most widely used and most widely talked-of remedy there is for all blood troubles. And it is a known fact that rheumatism is primarily a blood trouble.

It is conceded by the closest students of the subject that rheumatism is caused in most cases by an acid condition of the blood and aggravated by the remedies commonly used for relief. In other cases rheumatism is the result of nerve depression; in still others it is the effect of some vitiated blood condition, having been treated with mercury, iodides, arsenic, and other poisonous mineral drugs.

The recoveries of all these types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a wonderful tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally, just as specifically, and just as well ordained as the most acceptable, most palatable and most readily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. today, but insist upon S. S. S. Don't accept a substitute. You will be astonished at the results. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you would like to consult a great specialist confidentially, write to the Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Co., 536 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

TO SAVE EYES

Is the Object of This Free Preschiption—Try It if Your Eyes Give You Trouble.

Thousands of people suffer from eye troubles, because they do not know what to do. They know some good home remedy for every other minor ailment, but none for their eye troubles. They neglect their eyes because the trouble is not sufficient to drive them to an eye specialist, who would, any way, charge them a heavy fee. As a last resort they go to an optician or to the five and ten cent store, and oftentimes get glasses that they do not need, or which, after being used two or three months, do their eyes more injury than good. Here is a simple prescription that every one should use:

5 grains Optona. (1 Tablet)
2 ounces Water.

Use three or four times a day to bathe the eyes. This prescription keeps the eyes clear and quickly overcomes inflammation and irritation. Weak, watery, work-strained eyes, granular lids and other similar troubles are greatly benefited and oftentimes cured by its use. Many who wear glasses have discarded them after using it for a few weeks. It is good for the eyes, and will not injure the most sensitive eyes of an infant or the aged. Any druggist can fill this prescription promptly. Try it, and know for once what real eye comfort is.

NOTICE

Sealed proposals will be received up to 12 o'clock noon, July 7, 1914, for furnishing the city of Wilmington with motor-driven fire pumps to be placed in fire boat "Atlantic," sad pumps to be of capacity as follows: One motor-driven fire pump of 1,400 gallons' capacity per minute, at pressure of 120 pounds. Two motor-driven fire pumps of 700 gallons' capacity per minute, at a pressure of 120 pounds, together with all necessary equipment belonging to said pumps.

Persons submtting proposals shall furnish their own specifications, and no proposals will be received except from exclusive builders of fire apparatus, the right to reject any and all bids being reserved. Payment of the purchase price of the pump selected will be only as follows: Two Thousand Dollars to be paid upon installation of the pump selected, balance to be paid in installments of one and two years.

Further information may be had from Charles Schnibben, Chief of Fire Department, but all bids should be addressed to the undersigned.

METHODIST ORPHANAGE

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

June 1913-1914.

A Child in the Midst.

When Jesus was here in the flesh, a company of friends, on a certain occasion, gathered about Him and asked who was greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven. Whereupon Jesus took a little child and set him in the midst of them, and said unto them, "Except ye be converted and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven."

They were concerned about stations and ranks in His Kingdom. Jesus told them that unless they came back to the unselfishness and humility of childhood, they would not be fitted for any station in His Kingdom; They would not be suffered even to enter into His Kingdom.

Jesus made the child a type of the citizenship of heaven; he proclaimed the heavenly and divine conception of the worth of the child. He turned the thought of the world to childhood. He made the training of the child one of the chief concerns of His church. He endowed parenthood with the supremest authority known to earth because of the sacred and eternal interests involved in the training of the child. He pronounced an awful retribution against men that sin against childhood. He said that it were better for a man that a mill stone were hanged about his neck and that he were drowned in the lowest depths of the sea than that he should lead astray one of God's little ones. And He announced distinguished honor for the man that should save the life of a child, that he should shine as the brightness of the stars forever and ever.

There are no workers closer to the heart of the great Father than those who work for the salvation of children. There is no benevolence on earth that has more of the favor of heaven upon it than that which ministers to the helpless and dependent child, and especially, if this child be a dependent orphan child. It is the one benevolence that needs no advocate among men—it is the one cause to which all men join themselves. So really have men taken the teaching of the Christ and so surely has He touched the heart of mankind with His compassion and mercy. Here in North Carolina no other cause has so much of the love of our entire citizenship as the cause of the orphan. You do not have any longer to plead this cause among our people. You have only to tell them of its needs.

When the great John H. Mills laid the foundation of the noble institution at Oxford, and took his first child to it, he touched the heart of this commonwealth as no other man has ever touched it, and from that day, the work has been assured in North Carolina.

We are probably the foremost Southern State in this noble beneficense. It has gone forward among us because our people have responded to the appeal of the Christ, and have placed themselves under his leadership. Men have felt closer akin to God as they have had compassion for the orphan. Men have felt a more genuine fellowship with Christ as they have taken part in this work. Jesus has set a child in the midst.

There are two things in the life of the orphan child that appeal to men: One is his utter helplessness and defenselessness. He is here without having brought himself here, and he is not to blame for the adverse and hard conditions in which he is found. It is a case of suffering without guilt. If there is no mother-breast where he can be fed and loved and caressed, then God will find a mother-heart somewhere that will come and keep the child. If there is no strong arm for his protection, God will raise up ten thousand men that will build an orphanage where he may find shelter and home and the uplift to God.

The other thing that appeals to men is the sure revenue that comes from investment in the heart of the child. A certain worthy and beloved citizen of this commonwealth has a business venture that is paying him 20 per cent income. This same citizen is making investment in the Orphan Children of the State that will pay 30-fold, 60-fold, and a hundred-fold. You are making possible 10,000 noble achievements in the life of the race when you work upon the heart of a child. It is like the grain of mustard seed that the man cast into the earth, and it brought forth a thing of such foliage that the birds of the air lodged in the branches of it.

Some time ago in a North Carolina town, I found two men who were foremost business men in their community, and active church workers, and they were boys from the Oxford Orphan Asylum.

In recent conversation with a great captain of industry, he told me that one of the most efficient men in his business was an orphanage boy.

A working man on a public highway volunteered to tell me some time ago that his wife was reared in an orphanage, and that she was the smartest wife in his neighborhood. Men are making investments that shall bring largest increase when they invest in the heart of a child. There are such vast possibilities here. You are dealing with such eternal values.

Of course, it is not all assured. Some seed will fall by the wayside; some will fall among thorns, but much will fall into good soil and bring forty thirty, sixey, and a hundred-fold

Optimism.

In the last few days, I have heard of bequests of two estates, valued at about $20,000 each, to the Methodist Orphanage by friends of Jesus that are seeking a larger fellowship with Jesus. They have had their thought directed to the dependent orphan child, and they have heard with benevolent joy that the pure and undefiled religion of the Father is to minister unto these defenseless little ones. This is what is going on here and there throughout all the borders of our great State. North Carolina is on the side of Christ in this work.

When the brave and forward-looking Jenkins began this movement, he went almost alone to its initial tasks, save that the Lord of Hosts was with him. But it was but a little while before our people saw that he was right, and that we, as one of the great churches of the commonwealth, should have our own institution and should undertake to do our part of the work for the dependent orphan children of the State.

And so we entered this field, and so heaven has blessed us. Our God has given us friends far and near in all this goodly land. While I speak to you, there are men now in our midst that purpose in their hearts to set this institution among the great institutions of the land. And they have joy in finding such a place for the investment of the wealth that heaven has placed under their stewardship.

Thanksgiving.

I desire to record our thanksgiving to the great Father for the mercies of the past year. Our household has been guarded and defended from evil of every sort. No scourge has invaded our precincts, no pestilence has walked in our midst. We have had some serious sickness. We had eight cases of pneumonia in the early spring, and we have had a number of surgical operations during the year, but we have had no deaths, and our general health conditions have been good. Our home life has been administered by efficient and faithful officers, who work as under the eye of the Master, and whose final and larger reward is in his hands. Their work has been about all that we could wish for as to cleanliness and healthfulness and comfort.

School.

Our children have been under careful instruction in school, and they have made reasonable progress. For the present, we carry our school work through the eighth grade of our city schools, but e shall soon need to add two more grades. The moral and religious life of our children is a daily concern to every worker here, and I am glad to believe that the blessing of heaven is upon all their labors.

We have recently had several spasmodic cases of unbecoming conduct, for which cause two of our girls have been returned to their people, but the deportment of our children generally has been fine. We have present in the institution 186 children; 86 boys and 100 girls. We have received 21 children during the year, and 20 have gone out from us, four of whom entered college. Our average enrollment has been 185.

Home Life.

Our home life is built upon the idea that work is God's law, and that it is God's device for the making of a man. The Christ declared that "The Father worketh hitherto, and I work." No man can get into closer fellowship with God than when he is at work. In our Orphanage life, we all work. We cannot think that it would be pleasing to God for us to gather together a lot of idle children and to undertake to rear them without training for useful service in the great world where God works.

Our house-keeping, the cooking, the laundrying, the dress making, the patching and darning are all done by our girls, and the dairying and farming are done by our boys. And everyone has a reasonable time for recreation and play, and we all look about as nice as other folks, and sometimes a little nicer, when it comes to looks.

Girls' Building.

Our girls' building No. 3, is nearly finished. It is an exact reproduction of the Jackson building and is almost an ideal building for our uses.

Our Needs.

We need another boys' building like the Page building. We cannot take any more boys until we put up this building. It will cost $10,000. Here is a great opportunity for some friend of Jesus to do the thing that will give him perpetual joy.

We need a hospital building as a part of the great Methodist Hospital that is to come in the near future for the poor of this land where God has made us a great church and where Jesus has called us into fellowship with himself for the relief of human suffering. This first building, which could be set apart for the use of our children, could be built for $25,000, a large opportunity for some noble servant of our God to do an immortal thing.

Expenses.

Water	$ 349.09
Light	407.86
Fuel	1,922.48
Provisions	7,094.45
Salaries (officers and teachers)	5,742.05
Sudries, (clothing, shoes, books, stationery, laundry, drugs, postage, hospital, etc.)	2,381.58
Girls' building No. 2	6,182.25
Annuity	500.00
Insurance	393.75
Building and repairs	1,711.31
	$26,684.82

By taking the first six items above, we get the full cost for the maintenance and education of 185 children for one year, $17,897.51, which is $96.74 per child, which is $8.06 per month. In this exhibit the board and lodging and laundry of 15 officers and teachers is charged to the expense account.

There is one item of expense that is not included in the foregoing exhibit. A number of our children are clothed by friends—and special gifts of clothes are sometimes sent us. We cannot always give true estimates of the value of these things. These gifts would probably approximate $6 per year per child, which would add 50 cents per month in the foregoing exhibit to the cost of each child.

The cost of running the Orphanage farm and dairy is charged to our provision account, as the products of the farm and dairy help to reduce our purchases for the table.

Conclusion.

In conclusion, suffer me to say that, fine as is this interest in North Carolina, we have only touched the borders of this orphan world that lies around us. Where we take one dependent orphan into our institutions in North Carolina, we leave four others out in the big world, homeless and unprotected, at the mercy of evil men. Surely it is not the will of God that one of these little ones should perish. Here is need for vast offerings of gold and for vast armies of workers.

There is one honor that I covet for our Methodist folks in North Carolina, and that is, not that we shall have greater social prestige or larger political preferment, but that we shall have closer fellowship with Christ. That we shall go where he goes and do the works that He does in the relief of human suffering and distress. I would see a greater orphanage with capacity for four or five hundred children, and with endowment to carry it on through the ages in its blessed work.

And I would see a great Methodist hospital built for the poor of this land where God has given us a large and wealthy place. Jesus commissioned His church to do two things, to preach the gospel to men and to heal all manner of sickness. And He has never changed the commission.

Respectfully submitted,
J. N. COLE, Superintendent.

Gossip From Washington

IN a garden screened from public view by the White House on the east, the office buildings on the west and the north terrace Mrs. Wilson passes many busy hours. Mrs. Wilson's garden lies directly opposite the garden of roses Mrs. Roosevelt planted when she remodeled the gardens about ten years ago. Occupying the sheltered space between the executive offices and the south entrance to the White House, the path which the president travels to and fro daily bisects the blossoming plot.

Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota smiled when reference was made to facial contortions. He said that he was reminded of Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Jones went shopping one afternoon, accompanied by her husband, and as they emerged from a store after a busy seance hubby noticed that mother wasn't acting naturally. Beneath a spotted veil her face was undergoing a series of fearful contortions, twisting first to the right and then to the left.

"What's the matter, Mary?" asked the old man in alarm. "Are you ill?"

"Of course not, silly!" answered wifey as the contortions continued. "I never felt better in my life."

"Then what in the world are you doing with your face?" wonderingly demanded father.

"What am I doing?" answered mother, exposing both hands, which were full of bundles. "Why, I'm trying to get my veil down over my chin."

Representative Allan B. Walsh of New Jersey is among other things somewhat a poet. Here's one of his poems, the plot of which is founded on bare facts:

Two ladies met a barefoot boy whose legs were brier scratched.
They laughed and "joshed" the kid about the way his pants were patched.
"You patch your pants with brown, you do. Why don't you patch with black or blue?"
The small boy grinned and touched the spot. His face lit up with glee
As he cried: "You folks ain't got no eyes! That ain't no patch! That's me!"

Senator Ashurst of Arizona was discussing a fellow senator who had been sitting on the political fence with great skill. It reminded Ashurst of an incident that followed the killing of Jesse James, the outlaw.

"A stranger entered the morgue," said Ashurst, "and, raising his hat politely, addressed the morgue keeper:

"'Sir,' said he, 'would you do me a great favor? Will you permit me to see all that is mortal of the Hon. Jesse James?'

"'Sure,' said the morgue keeper. He walked to the marble slab and pulled down the sheet which covered the dead robber. The stranger gazed earnestly; then, replacing his hat, he started to leave.

"'One moment,' said the morgue keeper; 'why did you call the dead man "the Hon. Jesse James?"'

"'Because,' said the stranger, 'I wasn't quite certain he was dead.'"

HENRY F. ASHURST.

Representative J. F. C. Talbott of Maryland tells this one: One day he said to Speaker Clark, "Mr. Speaker, do you ever take a drink?"

The speaker took out his watch, looked at it closely and replied, "It is nine years seven months six days and eighteen hours since I took a drink."

BOOKS ON NATURE.

They Should Be Included In the Furnishing of the Country Home.

In furnishing the country house "nature books" should not be forgotten. On a beautiful night the stars force themselves on the attention of the most careless and unromantic, and it is pleasing to find near at hand a little book giving some simple information about astronomy. Again, when the garden is full of flowers with which others are familiar how convenient for the ignorant guest to find a simple little text book on botany lying on the veranda table. A book about birds is indispensable, for nearly every one now wants to know the birds better.

Vanity Bags.

Dainty little square bags, measuring about six inches in height and length and four in width and opening out like a jewel or dressing case, are the latest thing in vanity bags, made of crushed morocco in all sorts of charming colors and fitted with mirror, face cream, powder, pins, scissors and various other toilet accessories, while the center provides space for carrying spare gloves, handkerchiefs and perhaps a veil. They are extremely useful for motorists.

TIME SAVING TIPS.

When eggs are broken and cannot be used at once they will keep much better if the shells are removed and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt beaten in for each egg.

The usefulness of a willow chair may be prolonged by giving it one coat of oil stain and another of pure raw linseed oil.

Paint an old umbrella frame white and hang it, handle upward, in the kitchen if you would like a good drier for dishcloths.

Boil a new baking dish before using it, starting it in cold water and ending it in the same way, and it will be much less likely to crack.

If you keep your clothespins in small grape baskets with a wire hook and then place the hook over the clothesline, pushing it before you as you pin, it will save a lot of stooping.

An Old Favorite

The Wearin' o' the Green

OH, Paddy, dear, an' did ye hear the news that's goin' round?
The shamrock is by law forbid to grow on Irish ground.
No more St. Patrick's day we'll keep; his color can't be seen,
For there's a cruel law agin the wearin' o' the green!
I met wid Napper Tandy, an' he took me by the hand,
An' he said, "How's poor ould Ireland, an' how does she stand?"
She's the most disthressful country that iver yet was seen,
For they're hangin' men an' women there for wearin' o' the green.
An' if the color we must wear is England's cruel red
Let it remind us of the blood that Ireland has shed.
Then pull the shamrock from your hat an' throw it on the sod,
An', never fear, 'twill take root there, though under foot 'tis trod.
When law can stop the blades of grass from growin' as they grow
An' when the leaves in summer time their color dare not show
Then I will change the color, too, I wear in my caubeen,
But till that day, plaze God, I'll stick to wearin' o' the green!

A Few Summer Heat Dispellers

Quite Put Out.

"Say, lady, your hat's afire!"

Mr. Longobardi—Who yer callin' lady?

Side Interests.

"No, I didn't hire your friend."

"Why didn't you? He's an able man."

"Well, he's a health enthusiast. Has to go out every hour for seventeen inhalations of ozone, does setting up exercises four times a day and has to have a quart of hot water to drink every fifteen minutes. I fear he would have little time for actual business."

Their Protocol.

Young Bride—Who does the housekeeping?

Her Companion—Oh! We take turns forgetting to do it.

More Destruction.

Their father awoke from a slight nap.

"They had better give them militants the ballot," he murmured sleepily, "before they destroy the town."

The Better Way.

"Dad, I've simply got to fight this man. He has insulted me."

"All right. Invite him to your office and have it out with him."

"Guess I'll go to his office. What's the use of getting my own furniture all broken up?"

HANDSOME FURNITURE FOR THE GARDEN OR VERANDA

LAWN FURNITURE IN NATURAL COLORED WILLOW.

WILLOW garden furniture is popular, and when one wishes a comfortable set for the lawn or porch the one illustrated here is worth considering. The chairs are made with very open pattern and in a style that will withstand much rough usage. The lounging chair may be used with the extension pushed under the seat so that it looks like an ordinary armchair. There are magazine and book racks attached to each arm of the chair.

FRUITS FOR HEALTH.

Grapes, spinach and common dandelions are beneficial to those suffering from kidney troubles. Of course they will not cure a bad case of kidney disorder, but if a child, for instance, inherits weak kidneys a free diet of these foods will help greatly in preventing any serious development of disorders of the organs. Buttermilk is also beneficial, and children should be taught to like it. As a refreshing and even stimulating drink after school hours it cannot be excelled.

All kinds of fruits tend to purify the blood. Apples and oranges are among our best fruits for this purpose. Blackberries and raspberries in the season are useful as tonics and blood purifiers. Garlic, lettuce, spinach and kale are all of the greatest benefit. They will often prevent and sometimes cure insomnia.

A whole chapter could be written on the benefits of lemons. In biliousness, low fevers and liver troubles they are invaluable. In hot weather lemon juice is cooling to the blood and a good purifier. In the absence of other fruits a little lemon juice taken every day will help wonderfully to tone up the system and purify the blood in warm weather.

Chic Bathing Attire.

As bathing suits always reflect to a certain extent the cut of street dresses, the beach swarms this summer with V necks and tunics and, for those who confine their exercise to the beach, tier skirts. The flaring collar is also used, although the Medicis would undoubtedly rise from their graves in a body if they realized that court fashions of their day were now considered appropriate for the surf. Eton and bolero effects are seen, and sleeves are not infrequently of the raglan and butterfly varieties. An occasional skirt having clusters of plaits at intervals fulfills the prophecy of the return of this fashion. Best of all, popular priced patterns are already offered in each of these styles.

Mock Angel Food.

A nice picnic cake or one which is suitable for passing with the fruit is mock angel food. It is made in this way: Take one cupful each of milk, flour and sugar, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, pinch of salt, whites of two eggs, beaten stiff. Heat the milk to boiling point, stir other ingredients together several times (four or five) and stir into hot milk, then fold into this the whites of two eggs, already beaten. Do not flavor cake or grease pan, but flavor icing. This cannot be told from a real angel food.

Tango Necklaces.

Tango necklaces come in new conceits. They are the necklaces composed of ribbon links separated by groups of beads, which are usually of different colors, arranged to give as gay an effect as possible. These tango necklaces are bust length and are finished with a tassel of silk or one of strings of small beads.

Protecting the Stand.

When one has a china umbrella stand it is a wise plan to place a sponge in the bottom of the jar to keep it from being cracked or broken. The sponge not only prevents it from being broken but also absorbs the water which drips from the umbrella.

The Hardest Wood.

Yate is the hardest wood known and comes from Australia. It is used in the manufacture of automobiles.

THE CHILDREN'S CORNER

To Capture Bears.

Narcotic bullets are to be used in the hunting of polar bears by hunters, whose object is not to kill, but to capture the animals alive for the purposes of the Panama-Pacific exhibition, to live in a paradise where adoring children shall forever feed them with buns. The animals to be thus hunted are the great Kadiak bears of Alaska, and it is claimed that any beast receiving the slightest wound from a drugged bullet can be caught without danger. When the bear is struck he may be savage for a time, but by degrees he goes to sleep, and wakes a helpless prisoner, muzzled, very likely, and on a journey in a crate.

Speaking of the Alphabet.

Speaking of the alphabet, do you know this sentence, which contains all the letters of our English alphabet: 'John P. Brady gave me a black walnut box of quite a small size?"

Chinese Pets.

What seems the queerest pet to us is the cricket, a favorite pet in China. This insect belongs to boys, although many grownups keep them as well They are carefully fed, provided with water and kept in pretty bamboo cages. The ladies like them for their cheerful chirps, and it is not pleasant to tell that the boys and men keep them for fighting.

Applying Home Scenery.

Ruth, five years old, had seen an elephant and camel one evening. The next day she said to her brother:

"Harold, did you see that thing with two hills on its back and the cow with the tail on its face?"

Rhinoceros.

Rhinoceros, his name in full;
For short he's called a "rhino."
And is he strong? Oh, yes, indeed!
And beautiful? Oh, my, no!

A Lad of Wisdom.

Johnny White—Yes. An artist.

Johnny White—Don't you see what trouble he has to keep the wolf from the door?

FRUIT ON HATS.

Clusters of Berries and Other Small Fruits Make Attractive Trimming.

Cherries grow on millinery, likewise strawberries, currants, grapes, raspberries and little green apples so realistic as to make one reach involuntarily for the Jamaica ginger bottle.

Not to be outdone by the "fruits of the field," the vegetable kingdom—literally—is trying to come into its own. Carrots, which were used in stiff little bunches on white satin sailors during the last winter, have been supplemented by miniature tomatoes, both green and red, and it seems only a question of time until milady can carry around on her head all the ingredients of a boiled dinner or grandma's famous recipe for mixed pickles.

Perhaps a bristling bunch of asparagus will yet solve the problem of a substitute for the banished aigret, and surely no woman with an eye for the artistic would object to wearing a head of fresh green lettuce. It rivals the cabbage rose any day in the week for beauty and would be especially appropriate for those still in the enjoyment of their salad days. Tendrils of peas, lima and string beans would make novel wreaths and the cauliflower may yet bloom on feminine headgear. Unfortunately spinach is about out of season and alligator pears have not yet come in, but we must be prepared for anything, for at this season the whole feminine world is in the hands of the milliners.

SALTY POTATOES.

It is an easy matter to drop too much salt in the potatoes or peas. To remove the salt stretch a clean cloth over the vessel and sprinkle a tablespoonful or more of flour on the cloth and allow the contents to steam. In a short time the flour will have absorbed the salt.

Graceful Gown For the Summer Girl.

are laid in plaits. The tunic has pinked edges finished with blue to match the figure in the girdle. The bodice is cut with square neck, and the sleeves are elbow length, finished with pinking.

Today's Short Story

Solving a Mystery

HAVING spent years as tutor and professor of chemistry in —— university, I had often been called upon by manufacturers to find processes for the cheaper making of certain goods. This led me into experiments on my own account. I finally discovered a process by which I could manufacture a certain article 40 per cent cheaper than by any known method. Having interested capitalists, I procured a patent, a company was formed, extensive works were built, and I resigned my professorship and became superintendent of the manufacturing department.

We had got well under way and were making money when one of our salesmen sent in word that the article we were making was being sold on the market at a figure cheaper than we could manufacture it. Either the manufacturers were infringing on our patent or had a cheaper process than mine. I found the article contained the same elements as mine, but this gave me no insight as to the method by which it was produced.

The only way I could think of to find out all about it was to get into their factory and see for myself. I dressed myself as a workman, went to the factory where the rival goods were made and applied for work. I was told by the foreman that he had more men than he wanted as regular hands, but there was a pile of dirt at one end of the yard which he wished transferred to the other end.

Hoping that this might lead to something better, I accepted his proposition. I worked hard and had got about a third of the earth transferred when it occurred to me that the man was making a guy of me. For what did he want that earth wheeled to the other location? Then I saw his game. He had recognized me for what I was. I worked till noon, then knocked off and asked for a dime to go out and get something to eat. I bought a gauze duster, a thin felt hat and a pair of spectacles. Stuffing these in my pockets, I went back to work. I began again to wheel dirt from a pile near the office to the other end of the yard, where there was a shed. Then at the end of one of my trips, when I was near the shed, casting a glance about to notice that I was not observed, I slipped into the shed and in a twinkling was transformed into a gentleman in a gauze duster, a felt hat and glasses.

It was about ten minutes to 1, and few operatives were about, most of them still taking their nooning. I knew I had but a few minutes in which to make my observations. I hurried along, darting my eyes here and there, till I came to a staircase leading to an upper story. I had passed but halfway through the room when I heard running steps on the floor below. Then I knew that my absence from my wheelbarrow had been noticed from the office and some one was hurrying to intercept me. Diving behind a vat, I kept quiet, and in a moment the runner mounted the steps and ran straight past where I was hidden and into an extension of the building. I took in everything I could see and was passing into the extension when I heard my searcher running back. Looking into a raised vat and seeing that it was empty, I sprang up and into it.

As soon as all was still I got out and entered the extension. Here I found the principal ingredients of the article manufactured. Several piles of crude materials were about, and, picking up a handful of each, I stuffed my pockets with them. Then the man who had been chasing me came in and, coming up to me, ordered me to march out before him.

I knocked my man down and ran. Reaching the yard, I skimmed through several persons who tried to head me off and scudded through the gateway used for workmen. Once outside the premises I was safe.

After examining the ingredients I had purloined, analyzing some of them, I found that their process was our process exactly and that they were simply trying to run us out of the market by sinking half a million capital.

We sued them for infringement on our patent. In this way we brought their process before the court and closed them up.

WEEKLY DRY GOODS MARKET.

Cotton Goods Have Been Dull for Two or Three Days Past.

New York, June 27.—Cotton goods markets have been dull for two or three days past following the complications arising from the failure of the H. B. Claflin Company. Values have remained fairly steady because few goods were asked for and few were offered. There has been a slight advance in one line of bleached cottons and there has been a shortening of discounts on staple prints in one house where a fair business has been consummated. Some large users of duck have been making inquiries, especially harvester companies and will need additional supplies in the near future. Two or three railroads have also been asking for prices on duck supplies for the last six months of the year. Drills and sheetings have been quiet. Dress ginghams for spring will not be priced until the middle of next month. There is still an active retail and jobbing trade reported in wash fabrics printed and in white goods. Curtailment has increased during the week.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON MARKET

Week-end Session Closed With Net Gain of From Two to Eleven.

New Orleans, June 27.—The week-end session in the cotton market closed at a net gain of 2 to 11 points, July displaying the most strength. Buying was based chiefly on the continued hot and dry weather over the belt and the indications for little change over July. The July position showed much nervousness and at one time was 19 points up. At no time, however, was buying in this option heavy. At the highest new crop were 6 to 8 points up.

Cotton futures closed steady. July 13.18; August 13.20; October 1264; December 12.63; January 12.66; March 12.76.

Spot cotton quiet, unchanged middling 13 9-16, sales on the spot 220, to arrive 75.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

Liverpool, June 27.—Spot cotton steady; good middling 8.13; middling 7.61; low middling 7.13. Sales 3,000, speculation and export 200. Receipts 100.

CONDITION OF BANKS.

New York, June 27.—The statement of the clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they hold $31,357,850 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $7,481,400 from last tweek.

—Friends of Mr. W. D. Huhn, formerly of this city and now of Burgaw, will be glad to know that he is rapidly recovering after an operation for appendicitis at the James Walker Memorial Hospital Tuesday, and will be able to return to his home some time this week.

Market Fell Back Into the Doldrums Again—Total Sales Little More Than 70,000 Shares.

New York, June 27.—The stock market fell into the doldrums again today. Business during the two-hour session amounted to about 70,000 shares.

Prices of representative shares were lifted fractionally above the previous day's closing and sentiment was more cheerful, the Claflin failure no longer being regarded as cause for alarm. Technically, the market denoted a strong undertone.

The day practically was devoid of important news. Advices from leading mercantile trade centers were moderately optimistic.

A cash loss of the clearing house banks was much in excess of all estimates, aggregating more than $12,000,000, which is a trifle more than the week's gold withdrawals.

Bonds were irregular with a loss of two points in Rock Island debentures 5s. Total sales, par value, $780,000. Panama 2s declined 1-4 per cent on call during the week.

Resigns as Junior Engineer.

Mr. John B. Spinks, who has been junior engineer in the office of the United States engineer's office since 1907, has resigned his position and will engage in civil engineering work at Albemarle, his old home. He has been stationed for some time at King's Bluff on the canalization project for the Cape Fear river. His resignation is effective July 1st. Mr. Spinks has many friends in Wilmington, who will regret that he is to leave the city, but who will wish for him the greatest success in his new field.

No statement of the the receipts was given out.

The Fight by Rounds.

Johnson entered the ring at 10:20 A. M. amid cheering. The shout went up as Moran followed. The crowd gave Moran a better hand than Johnson. George Carpentier, the French champion, who is to champion, who was to referee the fight was given an ovation.

Time was called at 10:38.

Round 1. Moran fought for an opening and landed first to the stomach and head. Johnson succeeded in landing on Moran's jaw. They mixed it hard, Johnson landing on the Pittsburgher's stomach.

Round 2. Moran forced the fighting but Johnson managed to get some hard uppercuts to Moran's jaw. Moran in return landed hard on Johnson's head. Johnson sent a light left hook to Moran's cheek.

Round 3. Johnson gave Moran several terrific uppercuts to the jaw while Moran responded with several jolts to the negro's stomach. Johnson landed a hard jolt on Moran's eye and followed with hard knocks on the body. Johnson crowded Moran who stumbled against the ropes as time was called.

Round 4. Johnson drew first blood with a right to Moran's nose. The negro smiled confidently as he met Moran's attack. Both led at the same time, each landing on the other's head without harm. Johnson landed on Moran's face as the gong sounded.

Round 5. Johnson appeared fresher and confident as the round began. Moran landed hard on Johnson's jaw and the crowd cheered. Johnson retaliated with several blows to the body. Moran blocked several hard uppercuts and landed lightly on the negro's solar plexus which amused the crowd.

Round 8. Johnson followed his old style of fighting on the defensive. He succeeded in putting three upper cuts to the Pittsburgher's jaw. In a clinch Moran pounded Johnson's stomach, landing five or six blows and blocked more uppercuts from the negro. Johnson landed a hard right to the jaw. Both fighters did fine work.

Round 9. Moran sent a left hook to the body while Johnson landed one on the head and several hard ones to the jaw. Johnson rushed the fighting somewhat, Moran receiving a left on the jaw.

Johnson Warned.

Round 10. They mixed it immediately at the opening of the round. Johnson was successful in the in-fighting. The referee told the men to break away. Johnson sent one to Moran's nose, Moran's second claiming a foul. The blow cut Moran's nose and mouth. The referee warned Johnson while the crowd hooted the negro. Hard fighting was resumed. It looked as though Moran was weakining. This was all Johnson's round.

Round 11. Moran landed one on Johnson's head. The negro then rushed the Pittsburgher and received another warning for holding. Moran sent three hard blows to the body, the negro retaliating viciously with blows to Moran's jaw.

Round 12. Johnson succeeded in landing several uppercuts to the jaw and a straight left to the nose and also over the eye. Moran was breathing hard and it did not seem that he would last long. Moran cleverly dodged a hard swing to the jaw.

Round 13. Moran led but could not land effectively while Johnson sent one to Moran's jaw. The Pittsburgher landed hard on the negro's jaw which again drew a cheer from the crowd. Johnson stood back smiling and then sent a hard right to Moran's jaw.

Round 14. Moan tied hard but unsuccessfully for the negro's jaw. Several of Moran's blows brought smiles from his opponent. Moran ran into a punch on the nose and in making a futile swing at Johnson he ran into the ropes.

Avoided the Negro.

Round 15.—Moran avoided the negro who stood still laughing. Moran landed hard to the negro's face while the latter rushed him to the ropes.

Round 19. Moran went after Johnson in fighting and holding at the same time. He did no damage, however. His tactics caused adverse comment. Referee Carpentier frequently separating.

Round 20. They shook hands. Each tried for a knockout. Johnson sent several hard rights to Moran's face. He then landed with left to Moran's head. Moran's head rested on the negro's chest. Moran swung wildly and then Johnson landed frequently and at will. Moran was hanging and tried effectively for the negro's body. The gong then rang and Johnson was declared the winner.

SMALL FIRE CAUSES AN EXCITEMENT IN SALEM

the fire which started in the Korn Leather Works.

This was pay day for hundreds of mill operatives who lost both homes and employment by the fire. Some firms were unable to make payments as their records were destroyed. Others not only paid the wages due, but added extra money for married men.

TWO DEVELOPMENTS IN STRIKE.

Pittsburg, June 27.—There were two developments in the Westinghouse strike situation today. The first was the announcement that the striking employes of the Union Switch & Signal Company would return to work Monday provided no deputy sheriffs are seen at the plant. The second development was the refusal of E. M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company, to talk with C. W. Mills, one of the mediators sent here by Secretary of Labor Wilson.

Mills, it is said, carried a request from the strikers, which the strikers say, would have had important bearing on a strike settlement had it been granted.

had received no instructions from Gen. Carranza to accept the invitation to confer informally with delegate to the Niagara Falls peace conference. Both, however, intimated there was a probability of such a conference and that it might occur next week. They were awaiting the arrival of Fernando Iglesias Calderon, leader of the Mexican Liberal party, expected tomorrow.

During the day Rafael Zubaran, chief of the Constitutionalist agents here was in communication with Carranza at Monterey. One message from Carranza asked for further information with reference to the proposed informal conference.

Begin to Lose Hope.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June ...—Some of the principals to the mediation conference here began to lose hope tonight that General Carranza ever would permit his representatives to participate in the proposed informal conference with the Huerta delegates for the solution of Mexico's internal problems.

No word came to any of the mediators today as to Carranza's intentions and skepticism began to manifest itself, especially when news dispatches from Monterey showed not only was telegraphich communication with the Constitutionalist chief in excellent condition but he had spent the day in amusements, ignoring the anxiety of the mediators and delegates for some definite word of his purposes.

The impression here is that while the Constitutionalist representatives in Washington say they desire the meeting, General Carranza thinks otherwise and the military successes of his troops probably will increase his independence.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF CLAUSE IS DEBATED.

Words "Unfair Competition" in Trade Commission Bill Discussed.

Washington, June 27.—The constitutionality of the clause in the administration trade commission bill prohibiting "unfair competition" furnished the basis for several hours of heavy legal argument in the Senate today. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, submitted court decisions which he claimed upheld the constitutional right of Congress to invest in a commission the powers conferred by the bill. Senator Robinson also argued that the prohibition against "unfair competition" was sufficiently definite to enable the proposed commission to fix rules and regulations for the enforcement of the law.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, continued his attack on the "unfair competition" clause. He said the clause was of questionable constitutionality. His principal objection, however, was that the clause reversed the anti-monopoly theory of the present laws.

"SPOONING" A CRIME.

Chicago, June 27.—"'Spooning' is a crime against womanhood," John Alexander, a director, told 500 young women attending the older girls' conference of the International Sunday school convention here.

"Pass the word along to girls who love to 'spoon' that it is the most degrading thing they can do, one of the most degrading things they can permit," he added. "Make the boys clean minded and wholesome by the way you dress. Young men take a girl at her own valuation."

NEW YORK POLITICS.

Made Subject of Conference at White House Last Night.

Washington, June 27.—New York State politics was the subject of a long conference tonight at the White House between the President, William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National committee. McCombs asked regarding the United States Senatorship, declared he was not a candidate, but added that he did not know what he might do in the future.
